CONDITION AND PERFORMANCE

Plain Ben Jones, trainer and general manager of the Calumet Farm, for the past decade the most successful breeding and racing establishment in the world, once said that about the only hard thing in training race horses is to find out what they like to eat. This masterpiece of oversimplification does serve to point out, however, the paramount importance of condition as a prerequisite of performance. We take this for granted as far as racing is concerned. Besides his regular fee of twelve to fourteen dollars a day, the trainer receives ten per cent of all purses won—his ability to bring an animal to the peak of condition and to hold him there during the major part of the season is the most highly paid professional skill connected with the horse.

Many otherwise accomplished horsemen pay far too little attention to condition, however, in connection with other equestrian sports. In the hunting field we often see beautifully schooled horses with gleaming coats left far behind by more cold blooded animals, carrying much less flesh, that seem to hit every other fence, but nevertheless carry their none too expert riders to the finish of every big run. In the show ring the seal fat horses, too much above themselves to make careful performances during their first few classes, often have fences down during the latter part of the show because they are tired. Keeping a string of polo ponies sound and fit is often the only important difference between the team which leads the league throughout the season and the team consistently in the cellar. A brilliant teacher of riding may fail utterly because his horses and ponies are fed and exercised in a way which makes them unsuitable for school purposes.

Speaking of Sheila Willcox and her High and Mighty, acknowledged Three Day Event champions of the world, a correspondent in Horse and Hound writes: "Amidst many tributes, no reference would appear to have been made to a vital factor in their successes—horsemastership. Her horse was produced quiet enough to make the best score at dressage which has so far been made at Badminton, but fit enough on the second day to finish the cross-country, having taken so little out of himself that, as one good judge expressed it, 'he was fresh enough to have gone round again.' Last autumn, after winning the (European championship) horse trials at Copenhagen (Denmark), he won the best trained horse event at Harringay (England) on the (following) Friday and then came on to Aldershot to win the one-day event, all of this being accomplished without any apparent loss of condition.—Particular attention was drawn to his condition by the fact that so many horses were eliminated, simply because lack of condition caused them to become stone cold, in consequence of which they refused."

The full range of horsemastership is its simpler phases—stable management, feeding, grooming, exercising, care of equipment, and veterinary knowledge—makes up a major part of the program of the United States Pony Clubs. The times when we could depend wholly on others to take care of our horses in these respects are rapidly coming to an end. To-day, if we are to enjoy the sports they make possible, we must know how to look after our horses as well as how to ride them.

International

Equestrian Organization

Dear Sir:

Enclosed is a list with results from the first I. E. O. show held entirely under F. E. I. rules. I think that the way to get F. E. I. on the market is to have clubs and organizations with a thorough knowledge of European type competitions and F. E. I. rules, put on some all F. E. I. shows for those of us who like that kind of sport, and leave the regular type American horse shows the way they are, for the people who appreciate that type of show. The way I see it, it will not be possible to change the regular shows over to all F. E. I. So, why not separate the shows on the basis of all or nothing, either all F. E. I. shows run the proper way or no F. E. I. in the shows at all! That way everybody would be happy and F. E. I. would not get a bad name because of so called F. E. I. classes not run strictly according to the rules.

Yours sincerely,
(Mrs.) Lilian W. Royce

J. E. O'Connell's *Cavan Wins

The Belmont Stakes

Raleigh Burroughs

Before the running of the Belmont Stakes, two busy-bodies on the grandstand roof were enjoying a session of that popular American sport, "Ought-to-do". This game may be played solitaire, or with two or more participants. The rules are simple. Declarer says: "The trainer ought to do so-and-so," or "The track ought to do such-and-such," and explains why in a thousand repetitious phrases.

Opponent, dealing off the cuff, assumes the negative position and attempts, point by point, to knock down Declarer's premise.

Declarer does not need any specified number of points to begin the bidding; frequently, there is no point in anything he says.

In cases where Opponent agrees wholeheartedly with Declarer, and says so, the game gets rather mushy and loses all spectator interest.

Usually, no matter what his personal convictions, Opponent will take the opposite position for the sake of the game.

At Belmont, that afternoon of June 7, Declarer opened with: "You know what the track ought to do? They ought to put the TRA's Triple Crown trophy in the winner's enclosure with all that other refined ore, so they'll be ready to hand it to Jimmy Jones as soon as Tim Tam wins."

Declarer never got a chance to lead again. Opponent, holding a powerhouse of words, went on the offensive and took every trick.

"You're nuts!" he exploded, abandoning the fine etiquette of the game in his eagerness to score. "That's the last thing they ought to do. Don't you know that the surest way to jinx a horse or a human athlete is to concede him the contest?"

"That's what I'm afraid of about the Belmont. Before Tim Tam had collected the winner's share of Contest A - the Kentucky Derby - close observers of the sport were saying they wouldn't be surprised to see him take all three parts of the Triple Crown. After the Derby, closer observers took up the chorus, and when the Preakness was over, even the closest observers agreed that it was a mere formality.

"Take baseball, which children under wagering age think is the national sport. When a pitcher has a no-hit game going does anybody tell you? No siree! If you happen to snap on the radio or TV in the middle of a game and a pitcher has been dropping the other boys one-two-three, you'll never learn about it from the beer salesman that's spelling out the plays for you. Nobody connected, even remotely, with either team mentions the possibility of a perfect game in the making. It is a known fact, proven scientifically in independent research laboratories, that if anyone whispers the words 'no-hit game' during the course of the contest, the next batter will knock the cover off the ball.

"But what do they do in racing? As soon as a horse staggers home first in a race for two-year-old maidens somebody predicts he'll win the Futurity.

"In the movies, a colt can't even get himself foaled before old Uncle Ephraim spouts off, 'That theah is a Derby colt if Ah evah seed one.'

"There must be Uncle Ephs in real life who do the same thing, so practically every Thoroughbred foaled has jinxes working against him from his natal day. He picks up a few more along the way and by the time he has reached three years he is carrying 126 pounds of hoodoos."

Lost in the mellow music of his own voice, Opponent missed three-quarters of the Belmont Stakes. He zeroed in to see *Cavan dashing down the stretch ahead of everything and Tim Tam swerving in, then out, and finally hobbling to a halt, 'way down by the break in the fence that leads to the stables.

At last, Declarer got in a word. "It's a good thing," he observed, "They didn't put that Triple Crown trophy in the winners enclosure - it might have jinxed him."

The Belmont Stakes

The Belmont Stakes was a story of valor, tragedy and ecstasy. A courageous horse - wounded - finished bravely but failed to win the coveted event; a new star arose in the Thoroughbred firmament and it may be a brilliant one.

Calumet Farm's Tim Tam, with the Derby and Preakness and sundry other valuable prizes in his trophy room, missed in the race that would have assured him recognition as the greatest of his generation.

There was glory for the gallant winner, *Cavan. He was galloping strongly at the finish, pricking his ears and looking for more horses to catch. There was honor for Jockey Pete Anderson, who chose the right road all the way and used the accelerator at just right times. There was ecstasy for Owner Joseph E. O'Connell, who was enjoying his most important victory since entering the sport of racing. And Trainer Tom Barry basked

Steeplechasing at Belmont Park

John E. Cooper

Taking advantage of a fortuitous break, Paddy Smithwick sent Ancestor into the lead in the $12,500 added Meadow Brook Steeplechase on June 5th, and that was the story of the race. The glistening bay gelding carried his top assignment of 165 lbs., equally well on the flat and over 13 jumps. For a complete turn of the field Smithwick rated his mount carefully, and set what appeared to be a slow pace. It was perfectly suited for a top weight, and the others in the field had little choice. Ancestor is a "mighty leaper" and with his speed, if called on, the rider or horse attempting to run with him would be asking for a worm's eye view of the greensward. As it was Danny Marzani on Whitewood Stud's *Arywa ran closest to him but Marzani was careful enough to keep daylight inbetween. Two or three lengths further back, Air School ran in third place, followed by Mrs. M. G. Walsh's entry of Independence and Rythminhim, with Shipboard bringing up the field under Raymie Woolfe. With relatively little change in position, the field completed a tour of the course. Taking the water the second time, Air School momentarily displaced *Arywa for second place, and as Ancestor headed for the clubhouse turn, Smithwick let out a notch and the pace quickened. Entering the back stretch the last time, Ancestor held a four length lead over *Arywa. It was an equal distance back to the Walsh entry which had moved forward slightly with Tommy Walsh on Rythminhim and Evan Jackson on Independence. Air School at this point was still very much in contention, and Shipboard was still close enough to be a threat. An air of expectancy hung as the field raced down the far side, but it became increasingly clear that Ancestor, after his easy chore the first turn of the course, was still full of run. Around the final bend, the grey French-bred responded well to Marzani's urgings and he got to within a length of Ancestor, but the Phipps' gelding drew away again with ease, jumped the last fence with a daylight lead, and was hand ridden to the wire to score by a length and a half. *Arywa was well in front of the others for second, but the place money developed a contest with Independence gaining in the closing yards to best his stablemate by a neck. Rythminhim was half a length in front of Air School, while Shipboard was a fast closing sixth about another half a length further back. Considering the pace for the first turn of the field, the time of 4:44 was rather surprising. This was only 1 and 3/5 seconds off of Neji's record in the Gwathmey last fall, and in contrast to that race, in the Meadow Brook both turns were dogged by beacons or aluminum railing which increases the actual distance slightly. A factor of course, was that the Belmont course has received no rain in more than a week, and sunny skies and fresh breezes have all helped to dry the course.

Now a nine-year-old, Ancestor may easily be said to improve with age. His form in 1957 was better than in previous years, and in his two starts during the current season, he has shouldered successively higher imposts and won easily over the best sent against him.

Forget Hurdle Handicap

Also down for decision during the last week of the jumping season at Belmont was the Forget Hurdle Handicap on Tuesday. It resulted in a clever score for Walter M. Jeffords' Policeman Day. Ridden by Jimmy Murphy, and carrying 157 lbs., the Challedon-Blue Denim gelding ran an improved race over his first of the year the previous week, and came up to the wire by a length and a half. Like Ancestor later in the week, the comparatively small margin at the wire did not fully reflect the ease of either win. Jumping well all the way, Policeman Day took command from Nizam's Pet passing the stands the first time, rated well for his rider, and then stood off a game challenge from *Langton Breeze in the last quarter. The latter went well, moved up around the final turn with determination to reach a contending position in the stretch. He gained on the leader from the last hurdle to the head of the odds board, but Murphy on the winner appeared to be quite confident, shook up his mount in the last hundred yards and was drawing away at the end.

*Langton Breeze carried 160 lbs., 3 more than when he defeated Policeman Day in the Indigo Handicap. The second top weight, Caste, (158 lbs) held as the 2 to 1 favorite, could do not better than third and was nine lengths further back, and six lengths to the fore of Eternal Son which ran a good race with the leaders, but was unable to match their speed in the closing stages. The fifth horse to finish was Mrs. G. H. Bostwick's Indian Truce, which was the victim of an unusual incident in the running. Rounding the clubhouse turn the Bostwick trained gelding appeared full of run and was a definite contender. However, he was on the inside, and just as he approached the point where the course crosses the Widener Chute, he was crowded by the D. M. Smithwick trained-entry of Caste on the outside, and Nizam's Pet closest to him. Because of beacons on this turn which are designed to steer the race toward the outside coming into the backstretch, a beacon and part of the rail of the Widener Chute extends into the course. With just about enough room to squeeze through rail and beacon. Technically this put him off the course.

From a practical point of view, it hardly improved his chances, particularly as he struck the Widener Chute rail with his forelegs. The condition which caused this was corrected the following day after steeplechase officials viewed the films, and it still leaves the unanswered question as to how good the National Maiden winner is compared with the older handicap hurdlers such as Policeman Day and *Langton Breeze.

In winning the Forget, Policeman Day erased his own track mark set last year in the Turf Writers at two miles. That was 3:42. In the Forget he carried 9 more pounds and completed the course in 3:41 3/5.

The Mandingham

The fourth week of chasing opened with a nine horse field in the Mandingham at two miles and an eighth over the brush course. It probably was the best 'chase of the meeting with the result in doubt until the last few seconds. Guilford Dudley, Jr's *Hurst Park, after a midwest campaign this spring was making his initial start at the major tracks. He ran a surprisingly good race, made the pace all the way, and then duelled with the eventual winner, Cap-a-Pie through the stretch and up to the wire. Racing for the final fence five horses were across the track. *Muguet 2nd, the top weight (158 lbs) and favored in the betting appeared to be making a winning move, but landed poorly over the last fence and all but went down. Both Air School and Cap-a-Pie were bothered at this point, but the latter recovered quickly and went on after *Hurst Park which had opened up a lead of about three lengths. With M. Hoey in the saddle, Cap-a-Pie finished strongly, drew even with *Hurst Park in front of the odds board and then went on to win by three quarters of a length, giving Mrs. Marion duPont Scott her second win of the meeting. Out of Reach was third, three lengths further back while Muguet 2nd recovered to be fourth. Time of the race was 4:03, the fastest of the meeting for this distance.

On Wednesday, trainer M. G. Walsh uncovered a nice kind of a three-year-old. This was Mrs. H. J. Stringer's Adios Buzz. Getting off slowly and running way back for about a mile, the Mighty Story-Newton Scholar gelding made up a lot of ground around the last turn, reached the lead after clearing the final hurdle and won by a length and a half under Tommy Walsh. Ten three-year-olds went postward in this race, The Pebalong, which carried a $5,000 purse, and it augured well for the junior division. The runner-up, Sanford Stud Farm's Dartmoor, ran a good race and finished well despite a poor landing on the far side. Sextet and Count Down also ran well and were third and fourth in that order.

Final jumping race of the spring meeting was a claiming hurdle on Friday which

Oxmoor Hunt Races

Carter W. Brown

The fourteenth running of The Oxmoor Steeplechase and supporting races enjoyed good weather, a rather unusual stroke of luck for this Louisville fixture, and the beautiful day, May 31, brought out a record number of spectators. The course, officially listed as "firm", was in perfect condition. The brush course displayed fences of considerable size, well packed and perfectly trimmed.

Dead Heat

The Colonel, at one and a half miles on the flat, opened the racing for the day and opened a very successful day for trainer Dennis Murphy and amateur rider Crompton Smith. Six runners went post-ward and at the fall of the flag Laddie Murray on Guilford Dudley's Merecido went right to the front and was followed closely by Mrs. Murphy's U.C. Future and the aforementioned Crompton Smith. Behind these two came Filter, Cottage Flame, Jay Hawk and Hal's Sword. In the lower turn, having gone approximately three quarters, Merecido was still showing the way by two lengths and Cottage Flame had displaced U. C. Future for second by one length. Here Ned Bonnie on Cottage Flame discovered a flag he had either missed when walking the course or which had been placed later. In any event, some quick correcting was necessary and Cottage Flame's chances were spoiled. In addition, U. C. Future was bumped hard but Smith soon had him going again to be five lengths off Merecido at the mile mark. Filter was third, a spot he occupied from start to finish, Cottage Flame fourth many lengths off the pace and Jay Hawk and Hal's Sword badly distanced. In the stretch U. C. Future had cut down Merecido's margin to a length and in a driving finish the two crossed the wire as one. Without delay the placing judges declared it a dead heat for first. This moved Filter to the official second spot and Cottage Flame third.

Opening jumping race of the day was The Glenview at about two miles over brush. Dennis Murphy put Crompton Smith up on Mrs. C. F. Morris's Hal-Marbut to account for this one easily by fifteen lengths over The American. In scoring this victory, Hal-Marbut made it three for three and won from start to finish. A field of six accepted the offering but only four were left on their feet at the finish. First to go was Comin' Mam who deposited Alan Dufton on the turf at the second fence without injuries. Bellemonde, appearing to be breaking down after the early stages, went to the tenth fence out of contention and fell very hard with H. C. Baldwin. The mare lay on her side for some three minutes before getting up while her rider stood by nursing a bruised shoulder.

Except for the mishaps the running of the race was an even affair with Hal-Marbut leading The American, who, in turn, lead Questionable for the entire distance to be two lengths the better of him for the second award. The only other finisher, Fair 'n Square, was a badly distanced fourth.

Timber Race

Only four timber horses went post-ward for the about three mile Beargrass and Millwood Farm's good little Mary March added a fourth and impressive victory to her already impressive record for the season on The Midwest Circuit. The Saturday before she had been all the way to Purchase, N. Y., where she was third in The Connecticut Cup, giving weight to both the first and second horses. It is little wonder that back on her home soil of Kentucky she looked a bit gaunted but this did not prevent her showing her usual good form in The Beargrass.

First away from the starter's flag was owner-rider-trainer C. C. Adams on Forrest's Goal, a recent convert from the brush division. At the first fence he lead M. D. Buder on Beacon Star by three lengths, who was followed closely by Mary March and Maynine. This order prevailed for two of the three turns of the course. At the eleventh fence Maynine, tiring badly, hit the fence and owner-rider Clarence Short hit the ground but was uninjured and, in fact, remounted and galloped in to the judges stand. At the thirteenth fence Alan Dufton on Mary March decided wisely that with a turn of the field to go it was time to start a gradual move since Forrest's Goal was still going strongly in the lead and Beacon Star doing likewise in the second slot. At the thirteenth he moved Mary March into second one and a half lengths behind Forrest's Goal. At the lower turn, one fence later, Mary March had the lead with four fences to go and was never headed. Forrest's Goal dropped to third as Buder and Beacon Star was within a length of the mare and was hanging on gamely under hard urging. He seemed to be faltering in the final turn approaching the last fence and then came on again in the stretch. However, Dufton shook up Mary March on the run in and drew away to win by five lengths from him. Another fifteen lengths back Forrest's Goal finished third. The winner hung up the good time of 6:12 & 4/5.

NEWSTEAD FARM YEARLINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Hardin's Newstead Farm yearlings, consigned to the Saratoga Yearling Sales, August 11 through 15 are fast approaching the peak of perfection which is and always has been Mr. Hardin's forte. A condition which is not arrived at by leaving orders with some responsible stud groom, but by Mr. Hardin's daily supervision and personal ministrations.

Mr. Hardin considers the Saratoga Sales the top venue of its kind and therefore nothing but the best yearlings, in the very best condition, should be presented to the buyers for their consideration. The formula works, as witness the success of the Newstead Yearlings in former years.

This year the finest international bloodlines are represented in the 5 colts and 1 filly which will go under the auctioneer's hammer in August. A chestnut colt by Citation-Legendra, by *Challenger II. This colt is a half brother to stakes winner Hasty Doll. An imported bay colt by *My Babu-Banassa, by Un Gaillard. This is a first foal out of one of the greatest race mares of this generation. She ran mostly against colts and besides the important stakes she won she was 2nd to Sica Boy in the Arc de Triomphe and 2nd to Fisherman in the Washington, D. C. International at Laurel. A bay colt by *Royal Serenade-Punch, by *Bull Dog. Punch is a 100% producer being dam of the New York winners Great Artist and Doe. This colt is her third foal. A chestnut colt by More Sun-Family Affair by Grand Admiral. Family Affair is a half sister to Combat Boots. This colt is her second foal. Mr. Hardin says: "This colt has great racing potential having Man o' War blood top and bottom through Combat Boots and his granddam by Man o' War. "He is a miniature of his grand sire in color - deep chest - short legs and a beautifully close coupled body. The bay filly is by Royal Coinage-Slave Market, by Grand Admiral. Slave Market is out of Galley Slave from Sally's Alley.

O'KEEFE'S YEARLINGS

For a very enlightening and entertaining afternoon I know of no better horse breeding establishment to visit than that of Dr. F. A. O'Keefe of Pine Brook Farm, near Warrenton, Va. Annually it is my privilege to call on Dr. O'Keefe at his farm ostensibly to get simply the sex and breeding of his yearlings consigned to the Fasig-Tipton Saratoga Yearling Sales. But actually in the hopes that he will ask me if I would care to see them.

Now this is an experience which I look forward to and were I a good reporter and could make notes at a conversational pace I would probably be in the running for the Pulitzer Factual Reporting Prize (if there is such a prize).

Dr. O'Keefe is probably one of the best informed market yearling breeders; both from the breeding (families, suitable sires, etc.) and conformation point of view.

This year's consignment is no less carefully selected than those of former years and include a chestnut filly by Sun Again out of Mackle, by *Manhmoud; a ch. f., by Case Mate-Full Sail, by War Admiral, a full sister to the winner Ace Sailor; a bay filly by Mr. Trouble-Wood Sprite, by Blue Larkspur. Wood Sprite is the dam of 6 winners, and a black filly by Discovery-Siren Suit, by *Blenheim II. This is a first foal.

Dr. O'Keefe also has consigned two colts. One bay colt by Case Ace-My Truly Fair, by Alsab. This is a first foal and a half-sister to Repitoire. And a brown colt by *Royal Coinage-Sweep In by *Blenheim II. This mare has had 5 foals to race. Two of these are stakes winners; two have won allowance races and one 2-year-old started 4 times and was 3rd 3 times. The dam is one of 18 mares which had 2 stakes winners in 1957.

*ENDEAVOUR II COMES HOME

When Brookmeade Farms' Big Effort (*Endeavour II-Sun Mixa, by *Sun Briar) won the Acorn Stakes at Belmont (our equivalent of England's 1,000 Guineas), it emphasized the fact that Virginia breeders can count themselves fortunate that her sire, Mrs. M. E. Lunn's South American import is leaving California and will return to Llangollen, near Upperville, Va., to make the season of 1959. In addition to Big Effort, *Endeavour II has sired Porterhouse, champion 2-year-old of 1953 and more recently a top handicapper with a world's record to his credit; Corn Husker, winner of the 1957 San Juan Capistrano Handicap at Santa Anita; Gone Fishin', who brought about Silky Sullivan's downfall; Trying, Tipper, Try It and many other high class horses.

TAYLOR BUYS CANADIAN CHAMP

E. P. Taylor, of Windfields Farm, Willowdale, Ontario, Canada, recently purchased from W. R. Beasley the 5-year-old Canadian Champ (Windfields-Olesteo), who will take up stud duties at the National Stud Farm in 1959. Canadian Champ was bred by Mr. Taylor and was sold to Beasley at the first private Windfields Farm yearling sale in 1954 for $7,500. He became the second largest money winning horse in Canadian history and was named Canada's Horse of the Year for 1956. Mr. Taylor now owns Canada's Horse of the Year for 1951, 1952, 1953, 1954 and 1955 as well.

LATE AND EARLY YEARLINGS

Gil Darlington, manager of E. P. Taylor's Windfields Farm, has been weighing yearlings for a number of years on April 1st and has found that those foaled prior to that date weigh an average of 792 pounds while those born in the three months following, average 752 pounds. On the other hand, the early group have been averaging 19 pounds per month of gain while the late group has averaged 34 pounds per month.

KENTUCKY

BWAMAZON YEARLINGS

Of the yearlings sold by Bwamazon Farm, Lexington, Ky., at Saratoga last year, four have started, three have won and the fourth has been second.

*BLENHEIM II DIES

*Blenheim II (Blandford-Malva, by Charles O'Malley), who provided the Aga Khan with his first winner of the Epsom Derby in 1930, died May 26th at Arthur B. Hancock's Claiborne Farm, Paris, Ky., at the age of 31. Going to stud in England in 1931 he was imported to this country in 1936 after siring 36 winners abroad including *Mahmoud, also a winner of the Derby and leading American sire in 1946. In 1941 *Blenheim II led the American sire list. Through 1957 his get in this country had won more than six and a half million dollars. He was owned by a syndicate composed of Claiborne, Calumet Farm, Greentree Stud, William duPont, Jr., Montpelier, Harry F. Guggenheim and Stoner Creek Stud.

PENNSYLVANIA

ROCK RAYMOND FARM'S YEARLINGS

Mr. and Mrs. C. Earle Miller of Rock Raymond Farm, near Downingtown, Pa., have first string yearlings being fitted for the Saratoga yearling sales. Having topped the yearling sale at Garden State with a Johns Joy filly in 1957, they are looking forward to great things at Saratoga for these three equally well bred yearlings.

SARATOGA BOUND

Mr. Robert McLean of Fort Washington Pa., has three yearlings going to the Fasig-Tipton Sales, at Saratoga in August. The yearlings are being fitted by Gen. & Mrs. Charles B. Lyman at their Maui Meadows Farm, West Chester, Pa. Heading the list is a chestnut colt by Battlefield out of Bunoor, by *Mahmoud, out of Thorn Apple, by Jamestown. Bunoor herself is a stakes winner and is out of a stakes winner.

A dark brown colt by Royal Coinage out of *Fast Gal II, she by Alycidon out of Aromatic II of the famous foundation mare Marchetta. *Fast Gal II was a stakes winner as a 2-year-old in England.

A bay colt by *Sea Charger out of Glocca Morra, she by *Shannon II. This is Glocca Morra's first foal. Also at Maui Meadows is a dark brown colt, the property of Charles B. Lyman, Jr., by Greek Song out of Red Carpet by Roman. This is also a first foal. Red Carpet never raced. Greek Song, sire of this colt has an enviable record of Stakes winners in his first crop to race, including: Counterman, Faithful Song, Greek Spy, and Arion, who won the St. Patrick's Handicap at Gulf Stream in 1958.

FROM ABROAD

CALUMET'S GERMAN FILLY

Calumet Farm recently purchased the German-bred 3-year-old filly Nandine for $12,500. Nandine will be shipped to Lexington, Kentucky in early June.

Baron Henry Thyssen's Nandine is a dark brown filly by Ticino (eight times top sire) out of Nixe by Arjaman-Nanon by Graf Isolani. Full sister to Neckar, 1952 Hamburg Derby winner, Nandine boasts the best German bloodlines available.

In four starts as a 2-year-old, Nan-dine won one race, a sprint at Baden Baden during the August international meeting. In a single outing this season, the Ticino daughter was unplaced. P. S.

GERMAN RIBOT FOALS

Gestuet Niederrhein recently reported the birth of a colt foal by Ribot from the undefeated Abendfrieden mare Berberis. Berberis raced only at 2 and was unchallenged in three successes. The colt is believed to be the only Ribot foal stemming from an undefeated dam.

Niederrhein's Ribot foal was the third foaled in West Germany. The others are: Gestuet Schlenderhan with a filly foal from Jana (German Oaks), and Gestuet Asta with a colt from Bartolina, a half-sister to the crack Botticelli.

It was recently announced that Ivresse, winner of this year's Schwarzgold (German 1,000 Guineas) and Preis der Diana (German Oaks) has already been booked to Ribot in the 1959 season. P. S.

FLORIDA

FLORIDA-BRED WINNERS

Florida-bred horses won nearly $1,000,000 in 1957, according to figures recently released by the Florida Thoroughbred Breeders Association. Except for 1956, when Needles and King Hairan had their big year, winnings are five times what they were ten years ago. The five leaders in 1957 are as follows: -King Hairan (Kings Stride - Lady Hairan), $44,950, W. E. Leach, breeder; Hubcap (Boodle-Rub-Adub-Dub), $40,200, Elkcam Farm; Oclirock (Nelson Dunstan-Yasum), $33,045, Carl G. Rose; Needles (Ponder-Noodle Soup), $29,700; and Floral Girl (Noble Hero-Brown Flower), $22,085, Carl G. Rose.

Col. K. R. Marshall's Hartney, chosen in the annual Daily Racing Form poll of turf writers as Canada's Horse of the Year for 1957, has been depicted as his trainer places a "cooler" blanket on him after winning a stake at new Woodbine. Col. K. R. Marshall, owner of the champion was honored by Daily Racing Form at a dinner on June 5, and presented with the painting by Canada's foremost painter of Thoroughbreds, Bill Kettlewell. Also honored at the dinner were trainer Pat Mac Murchy, jockey Charles O'Brien, who guided Hartney to four victories, including three stakes successes, and Frank Conklin, who purchased Hartney from breeder R. J. Speers and consigned him as a yearling to the sales ring. Anna Speers, daughter of the late R. J. Speers, will also receive a copy of the Kettlewell painting.

Hartney is a dark bay gelded son of *Fairmond-Alimony, by Chance Line and was foaled in 1951.

MARYLAND

ALERTED'S FIRST

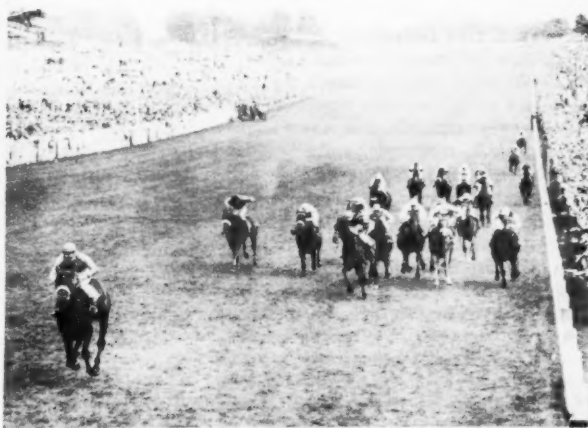

Alerted, the syndicate-owned stallion which stands at Colonel H. B. Marcus' Glade Valley Farm, near Frederick, Md., had his first winner on May 14th when Mrs. Anson A. Bigelow's Otterbein (out of Green Shed, by Teddy's Comet) won his first start at Belmont.

IMPULSIVE'S FILLY

Impulsive, purchased at the Mayer dispersal last January by Mrs. Henry Obre of Monkton, Md., recently foaled a bay filly by *Solar Slipper and has been booked to *Turn-To. WINNER FOR JESSAMINE

Second highest price at last year's Newmarket December Sales was the 15,500 guineas given by the Anglo-Irish Agency on behalf of an American client for Lord Derby's ten-year-old mare Jessamine, in foal to Never Say Die.

By Hyperion out of Fragrance II, coming of the famed Marchetta family, Jessamine had not had a runner at the time of her sale, having been barren in her first season and then twice slipped her foal.

So her three-year-old of the present season, the Chanteur II gelding Blue Finch, is her first runner, and in three outings so far has run second and then won his next two races, the latter being the Stanley Handicap at Doncaster over 1 1/4 miles which he won by two lengths.

WINNER FOR *TULYAR

*Tulyar had his first winner of the season in Ireland on May 17th when the three year old brown filly Tula Riona won the Point Plate, a minor event at the small Dundalk meeting.

Owned by the President of Ireland, Tula Riona beat nine rivals, winning by three lengths after starting third favorite at 11-4.

*KINGSWAY FILLY FROM ENGLAND

Bought through the Anglo-Irish Agency for the United States is the three-year-old filly Amy's Pet, by *Kingsway out of Dens Jenny, by Borealis. The winner of one race at two, Amy's Pet has run four times this season, scoring twice and being placed in the other two races. Both her successes this year have been achieved over six furlongs.

ANOTHER FOR *ARCTIC PRINCE

Making her first appearance on the racecourse in the Godstone Plate at Lingfield Park for three year olds, Sir Humphrey de Trafford's filly Success was well backed by her connections at 7-1 and justified the promise that she had been showing at home by beating the odds-on favorite Impatient, winner of his two previous races, by half a length, with *Big Dipper's half-sister Nicaria another six lengths away third.

Bred by her owner, Success is by *Arctic Prince, (now standing at Leslie Combs' Spendthrift Farm, Lexington, Ky.) Hyperion mare Lakes Success.

OWNERS ASSOCIATION

Frank R. Warton, a member of the Illinois State Racing Board, has announced the formation of the American Thoroughbred Owners Association of which he will serve as secretary-treasurer pro tem. According to Mr. Warton the new association was created "because Thoroughbred owners, who provide the greatest part of the investment that makes racing as a sport possible, have had no organized voice in its conduct." The purposes of the association as set forth in its charter are: "1. Maintain a relationship of mutual understanding and respect among the public, racing associations, horsemen and other segments of racing. 2. Help attract new and reputable owners to the sport. 3. Aid the improvement, development and protection of Thoroughbred racing. 4. Counsel with national, state and local governments in the interests of avoiding unfair taxation of the sport. 5. Protect the interests of the Thoroughbred owners with relation (to costs for feed, transportation, insurance,) etc; guard against the abuses in the writing of races, weight assignments and purse distribution, and constantly urge that race-track officials, owners, trainers and others officially identified with the sport be men of acknowledged high character."

Charter members of the association include Daniel F. Rice, Mrs. Elizabeth Graham (Maine Chance Farm), Leslie Combs 2d (Spendthrift Farm), Alfred DeCozen (Short Brook Farm), Admiral and Mrs. Gene Markey (Calumet Farm), Duval A. Headley (Manchester Farm), W. Arnold Hanger, Mrs. Edward S. Moore, Mrs. Daniel F. Rice (Danada Farm), Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hooper, Mrs. Josephine Albrecrombie Robinson (Pin Oak Farm), Milard Waldheim (Bwamazon Farm), Mr. and Mrs. Gough W. Thompson (Roslyn Farm), William S. Miller, Mrs. John F. Bryce (Mill River Farm), Frank J. Heller, Emil Denemark, Robert McKay, W. E. Leach, Frank G. Rand, Jr., W. L. McKnight, Charles Wacker, Lyle Phipps and Cortright Wetherill.

CANADIAN-BRED WINNER IN ENGLAND

Both the Canadian-bred horses that Mrs. McDougald sent to race in England have now been winners. Last season she won with the Chop Chop colt Niagara Falls, and recently her three-year-old colt Jack Canuck, by Windfields out of Oriole Lass, ran out a four lengths winner of the Oakley Handicap over six furlongs at Salisbury.

SPEED TEST

Writing in "The Morning Telegraph", columnist Teddy Cox tells this one which he picked up from Eddie Miller, racing secretary at Wheeling Downs, West Virginia. "Early this year a young man by the name of Earle (Glasses) Miles called me on the 'phone and asked for a couple of stalls. I asked him if the horses were winners. He assured me that both had won several races. I naturally was pleased to assign stalls. The very next morning he showed up but instead of the young man I had visualized over the 'phone, I was confronted by a grizzled veteran of almost 80 with sideburns down to his shoulders.

"When he handed me the foal certificate I checked my winner's book. I couldn't find their names anywhere. I reminded him that he had stated that both horses were winners. 'But you didn't mention what year!' Miles replied.

"Well, his horses were here and were bedded down, so I had wasted a couple of stalls that I needed.

"One day I was really 'hurtin' for a horse. I thought of 'Glasses' and his two space fillers, so I called him into the office, told him my plight and suggested that he 'give' me a horse to fill the race. He didn't like the idea, said his horses were many weeks away from being ready, but finally relented and entered a 5-year-old gelding named Speed Test. The horse had raced twice at Bowie this year, but just about finished. Didn't beat a horse. In '57 he raced 30 times. Didn't win a race.

"Next day Speed Test came out with his field, sure enough. Looked as if he was in foal. Fat as a butter ball. I felt sorry for 'Glasses' and somewhat ashamed of myself for inveigling the oldster into giving a helping hand. So what happened? You guessed it! Speed Test came bounding home, the easiest kind of winner, and he paid $97.60.

"Several days went by and I didn't hear anything more from 'Glasses'. Then I found myself 'hurtin' again for a horse. This time I didn't ask any questions. I simply put Speed Test in and we drew the entries. When he picked up an overnight entry sheet, Miles came to me screaming. Wanted to scratch his horse, said he wasn't ready, that his other race had knocked him out.

"But he again relented. So Speed Test won and he paid $19.00. Don't know when 'Glasses' is going to run his horse again, but I guess he really doesn't care much. He has the loot stashed."

IRISH WINNER FOR MISS SEARS

Carrying the welter burden of 139 lb, and giving no less than 48 lb to the second horse, Miss E. R. Sears' five-year-old Alastair, by Preciptic out of X-Ray, ran out an easy three lengths winner of the Enniskerry Handicap Stakes in Ireland over one mile.

German Oaks

Ivresse, a French-bred filly purchased at Deauville for $10,000 by six enthusiastic ladies of the German turf, succeeded in the mile and one quarter German Oaks at Raffenberg, Mulheim. Under a perfectly timed ride by veteran Gerhard Streit, Ivresse was a neck in front of the previously undefeated Erlenhof filly Andrea. Ivresse is undefeated in three starts this season, and will now be readied by trainer Valentin Seibert for the $24,000 Blue Ribbon Derby at Hamburg Horn.

IVRESSE by Nuccio-Blue Kiss, by Pharis, French-bred filly which won the German Oaks.

Ivresse is owned by Stall Wolkenstein, nom de course of a female syndicate composed of Countess Batthyany, Frau Delius, Countess zu Oettingen-Speilberg, Frau Bscher and Frau Scherping. Ivresse represents the initial investment of the female turf syndicate and the stunning French-bred has already earned $8,000 of the $10,000 purchase price.

The German Oaks winner is by Aga Khan's Prix de L'Arc de Triomphe winner Nuccio and is the first foal of Blue Kiss, a daughter of Pharis. She is a stunning model, big with a thick well-made front and a contrasting blaze and white stocking. P. S.

People who play horses by the numbers must have had a picnic by the time the second race was finished at Belmont Park on May 31. The order of finish was identical for each race. Number one was first, number four was second, and number six was third.

MRS. JACKSON'S DECORATION

R. D. Grainger, Paris correspondent for "The Morning Telegraph", recently revealed in his column that Mrs. Howell Jackson, of Middleburg, Va., was decorated by the French government with the Order of the Legion d'Honneur for an exploit at Dunkirk in 1940 - previously a well kept secret from her many friends in this country.

IRISH GUINEAS

Sir Victor Sasson, who keeps a number of mares in this country, recently won the Irish 2,000 Guineas with his colt Hard Ridden (Hard Sauce-Toute Belle II), which beat Sindon owned by American Mrs. Anne Bullitt Biddle.

ITALIAN DERBY

The Razza Ticino's Sedan (by the French stallion Prince Bio out of the Italian Oaks winner Staffa, by Orsenigo) recently won the 75th running of the Italian Derby, beating Pier Capponi by 3 lengths. The 2,000 Guineas winner Peveron ran third by the same margin.

CARLETON PALMER WINS

American Carleton Palmer recently saw his 3-year-old King Jester (King's Bench-Peep-bo) win his first race in the 6-furlong Greenlands Maiden Plate at the Curragh, Ireland. Vincent O'Brien trains him.

ALY KHAN WINNERS

The Aly Kahn recently scored a double when he won both the French and Irish 1,000 Guineas with the fillies Yla (Migoli-Skylarking) and Butiaba (Prince Chevalier-Bodala, by Bois Roussel). Rex Ellsworth bought Bodala for $1,700 at auction at Newmarket last autumn - a real bargain.

HUNTING

CASANOVA HUNT

Casanova,
Virginia.
Established 1909.
Recognized 1910.

Casanova Elects Officers

At a Board Meeting of the Casanova Hunt held at the home of Mr. Walter B. Eaton, Chairman, on May 17, 1958, Mr. Kenneth J. Edwards was elected to serve as Joint Master with Mr. Chas. H. Tompkins, Jr. who has been Master for the past six seasons.

Mr. Tompkins stated that due to the press of his personal business it would be desirable to have a joint Master. Having been one of Casanova Hunt's most ardent supporters, it was unanimously decided by the Board that Mr. Edwards would be the logical person to serve as a Joint Master.

This step is one that is fully in accord with the sporting principles carried on by the Casanova Hunt, inasmuch as Mr. Edwards not only competes in the Show Ring and Hunter Trials circuit, but also in the Point-to-Point circuit; he is Vice President of the Warrenton Polo Club and, as indicated, is a very enthusiastic horseman. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards are two of the most prominent horse breeders in the Warrenton area.

At this same meeting, Mr. John Alexander was elected Honorary Secretary, in addition to his duties as Treasurer, Mr. Robert Palmer, the inimitable Secretary of the Virginia Gold Cup Association as well as the Secretary of Casanova Hunt Point-to-Point, having resigned.

Mr. Chas. F. Knox, Jr. was elected Chairman of the Board succeeding Mr. Walter B. Eaton who has held this position for the last six years. The Board presented to Mr. Eaton a beautiful silver tray with the Casanova Hunt seal inscribed thereon.

Also re-elected for another term of three years to the Board of Landowning Governors were: Mr. W. T. Carrico; Mr. John P. Cutting; Mr. W. W. Gulick, Jr., Ex-MFH; and Mr. C. W. Meetze. Miss Alice Watkins was re-elected Recording Secretary.

The Beaufort

The Duke of Beaufort's famous pack of hounds met at 10:45 on Wednesday, December 12, at a pub called Cross Hands on the road from Tetbury to Bath. In spite of a little drizzle which had continued all morning, a very large and smartly turned out field appeared. In such a smart field, I was embarrassed at the horse which Arden had at the meet for me. She was about as ugly as one can imagine - a 15:1 cob, a liver roan with white spots on the muzzle and white circles around the eyes, and a very ugly Roman nose. But when one has to write ahead for hirelings, he never knows what will appear at the meet.

There must have been 150 or more mounted people in the field and a large proportion of them stayed out in spite of the rain. They enthusiastically gallop to the front on the flat, but like most of the people I have seen hunting in England, a large proportion of them do not jump at all. They go through gates, which are everywhere, or ride down the inevitable black top roads. Almost all hunters are shod with mordax studs, so they feel safe on hard roads and gallop down them as we do on dirt.

In conformation, the Beaufort Hounds are beautiful. They are the newer type English hound. His Grace has been one of the leaders in developing this newer hound. They were very level as to size, but not as to color. There were the conventional tri-colored, but also red and white and some white with lemon spots as well.

Today the Duke was hunting the Bitch pack himself. He and his hunt servants wore green coats. His joint master, Major Gerald A. Gundry, acted as Field Master and had great difficulty holding in check the enthusiastic field, which wanted to be right on top of hounds.

The Major wore a dark blue hunting coat with buff lapels, and cap of course. Many of the top hatted men in the field also wore the blue and buff.

Hounds found in small bit of kale. They ran fast and well bunched. We galloped down a valley and up a hill as the fresh horses charged to the front. There was always great crowding at those bottle necks, the gates, so there was a distinct advantage in jumping, if you could find a place to get over where there was no wire.

The pack went up through the grass park of a large private estate and then down the hill. The fox must have jumped the brick wall enclosure. When we reached there, one lone bitch was over and trying to carry the line in a wheat field across the road while the rest of the pack was still inside of the wall. His Grace brought them out through a gate. They hit the line where the bitch had been working, but there was some delay in this. They ran this fox 45 minutes to a check in some bracken ferns on the brow of a hill where we thought he had gone to ground. The Duke dismounted and climbed the wire fence to investigate, but he found no hole. Just then one or two hounds spoke down the hill. The fox evidently ran over stone walls and through the back yards of a small village. This slowed up hounds considerably. When we reached an open field beyond, a farmer said he had viewed the fox some 20 minutes ahead of hounds. The drizzle increased, but still they carried this line slowly, in a hit and miss fashion for another 20 minutes, which was doing awfully well under the conditions. The Duke finally abandoned it as being too cold. The total time was 1 1/4 hours.

Then we hacked on a hard road to Cross Hands, where we met. The Hunt Staff and some others had second horses waiting. Then they drew in the opposite direction from this morning. This was a stone wall country, but few people jumped them. My funny little cob mare did not like them. Arden had warned me of this, so I crowded at the gates with the majority, but when we came to hedges I was all right, for she liked to jump them.

Hounds soon found and went away. The drizzle changed to a real rain, which would have largely killed scent at home, but these hounds kept at it with only few checks. The rain got heavier and the wind blew hard. We were all soaked to the skin and the wind made one cold. Hounds stuck to their fox in the middle of the storm and marked him to ground in about 55 minutes, which was a real accomplishment.

His Grace drew a couple more kale fields. They were blank. We were all so wet and cold he decided to call it a day, much to everyone's relief.

Miss Daphne Moore, who was so wonderful about helping me arrange this tour, was out today, on foot as with the Berkeley, running across country with her terrier. It is amazing how she is able to be there at the psychological moment, sooner than most of those who are mounted. When we arrived at the earth the fox went in, there was Daphne.

Her Grace, the Duchess of Beaufort, kindly invited me for tea and her butler drew a hot bath for me, so I could warm up and then change to some dry clothing. The other guests were the joint master of Bicester and Warden Hill, Mr. H. Miles Gosling, and two other men who came over with him; also the Honorable David Somerset, a cousin of the Duke (who has bought the Queen's Three Day Event horse, Countryman III), and Daphne Moore.

Book Review

THE CHEVY CHASE CLUB. A HISTORY 1885-1957. BY JOHN M. LYNHAM, CHEVY CHASE, MD., 1958, PRIVATELY PRINTED, pp. 127, ILLUS.

The Chevy Chase Club, now largely devoted to golf, tennis, swimming and social activities, was organized in 1892 as a hunt club to succeed its predecessor the Dumblane Hunt, organized in 1885 by S. S. Howland who came to Washington from the Genesee Valley. Mr. Howland's enthusiasm for hounds and hunting was shared by his wife, who was a sister of Perry Belmont. Their sponsors in founding the Dumblane Club were the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. William C. Whitney, whose grandsons, Ambassador John Hay Whitney and Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, are pillars of present day flat racing. The first Master of the Dumblane was George Eustis, with Charlie Briscoe as Huntsman, who hunted a pack of English foxhounds. The old Dumblane Hall, used as a clubhouse, now does service as a grade school for the Immaculata Junior College near the northeast corner of the intersection of 42nd and Warren Streets, N. W. Still standing is the magnificent 400-year-old Dumblane Oak. Mr. Howland took over the mastership in 1889 and was succeeded the following year by Robert Neville, who later lived near Upperville, Va. The Dumblane sponsored several race meetings at the old Ivy City Track. In 1892 the Comte de Jantelle of Paris was appointed Honorary Huntsman.

Although the Chevy Chase Club was organized in the fall of 1892, the Old Dumblane Hunt carried on until 1895 when stables and kennels were provided on the Chevy Chase Club property and the hounds and horses moved there. In 1894 Pat Collier brought the Monmouth County Hounds for joint meets and in 1895 18 couple of hounds from Ireland were imported. Henry M. Earle, S. S. Howland and George M. Dunn served as Masters from 1892 to 1898 when Clarence Moore took over; he continued in office until 1912 and built up the hunt and hunting country until it became one of the best in the United States.

Mr. Moore did things in a grand manner. At times as many as 90 hunters and 240 hounds were maintained. He regularly bought the drafts from the Holderness Pack in England. Unfortunately he was one of those who went down with the sinking of the Titanic on April 15, 1912. Because of the growth of the city of Washington, the hounds were moved in 1906 to Mr. Moore's Rock Creek Farms located near Kensington on the east side of Rock Creek, approximately opposite the end of what is now Saul Road.

In 1899 the club became a member of the National Hunt and Steeplechase Association and a steeplechase was held each spring on a course which circled what later became the horse show grounds on the other side of Connecticut Avenue. Beginning in 1901 a race known as "The Chevy Chase" was held annually at the old Bennings Race Track east of the Anacostia River.

The first horse show to be sponsored by the club was held on Saturday, May 10, 1902 and continued as an annual fixture for several subsequent years. A polo committee was appointed on December 4, 1894 and a polo team organized which held annual matches with the Army Team at Fort Myer, the last of these taking place in the spring of 1916. Unfortunately, horse activities were not revived after the close of World War I.

The book is admirably illustrated with old photographs of horses, riders and hounds and is an important document in the history of foxhunting in this country.

James River Hunt Club

Sun, sand, and smiles greeted exhibitors and spectators at the annual James River Hunt Club horse show held at Hampton, Va. A record 90 horses and ponies competed in this two day event and show chairmen Kenneth Taylor and Stanton Wallace were rewarded for their efforts with quality, enthusiasm, and tremendous ringside appreciation.

Horses that had been trained and sold by C. F. Blair of Richmond dominated the working hunter division, with Social Error, Silhouette, and Tuffy going one-two-three in two events. The working tri-color was pinned on Social Error, the smooth, going Palomino owned by L. W. Richardson, in the open jumping section. Jimmie Cantwell's Hurricane Edna, from the Blair barn, won four tough classes and the championship, while Montigo, owned by R. S. Reynolds Jr. was ridden to the reserve title by Mrs. Jackie Blair.

Substance, soundness, and stamina well describe 14-year-old Emily K. Bryan from Crozier, Va. This young miss copped the coveted V. H. S. A. equitation event, tied for junior working hunter champion on Night Cap, and then gave the pros a money run in the green working division, where she stayed consistently in the top ribbons.

A riding combination of husband and wife snared all honors in the two green groups. Bill Quinn rode Waverly Farm's Garden of Eden to five blues and the tri-color in the conformation section over Green Court Stable's Cold Climate. His wife, Blanche, had the leg up on Alice O. Frazer's Teddy Bear, in green working and the decision's were close, Mrs. Quinn got the nod in the hack off with Lanie Logan's, Whigmalliere. This makes a two for two championship score for Teddy Bear in as many weeks.

Green Court Stables Shannondale, Sue Burke, up, won two good classes over the newly rebuilt outside course, had a smooth go in the stake, and earned the conformation title. Shawnee Farm's Take Command, last year's V.H.S.A. green champ, was reserve at James River, and has graduated into the 4 foot division with great style.

Ponies were profuse and persistent, and many smooth rounds were cheered by viewers of all ages. Ann and Billy Doyle of S. Pine, N. C. took small pony honors with their grey Blue Belle and brought Waverly Farm's perennial Johnny Cake in for the reserve rosette. Kathleen Watson's handsome Snow Dancer was large pony winner, with Dim Light, owned by Judy Wood, reserve. Miss Wood also earned the junior hunter championship on her useful mount, Chocolate Sundae.

Central Ontario

A new horse show was born in Canada on May 9th which horsemen hope will be here to stay. Some $6,000 in prize money was offered in the two day all Division show which the sponsors, the Rotary Club of Kitchener and Waterloo, believe make it the third largest indoor horse show in Canada. 'Strong legs jump that the weak may walk' was the show's slogan, for proceeds are for the Rotary crippled children's centre.

The Rotary Club put tremendous effort and expense into the show and the facilities at the Kitchener Memorial Auditorium could hardly be improved on. The auditorium, splendidly appointed holds 8500 and affords perfect visibility. The ring, slightly smaller than that of the Royal Winter Fair, is nevertheless excellent for an indoor show. Big and complicated courses were designed by Maj. L. J. McGuinness, who in the eyes of exhibitors may have carried things a bit far but which made an exciting show for spectators. In fact the jumper courses were long and twisty and called for some heady riding. There were sighs from the riders before they started yet they seemed quite pleased for the courses singled out the best riders and most accomplished horses.

Paddy Farrel, now riding for Carl Pielsticker, gave somewhat of a surprise performance to win the Working Hunter stake on the old conformation hunter Daleracker. The elegant, big, nearly white horse had an outstanding performance, the only clean round of the course which included two big spread fences that caused a lot of grief.

Conformation Hunter champion was Elaine Boylen's Valley Sign which topped the stake over another grey, Don Hargrave's Dan Cashin. Dr. J. B. Chassels came out with a new looker - the solid black quality four-year-old Royal Dolton which was made Green champion.

Greater Cincinnati Charity

To say that this show was a success was putting it very mildly. The classes were so well filled that we were showing until way past mid-night every night. The Working Hunter and Green Divisions had some forty odd entries. The conformation was a little lighter; and likewise the Jumper.

Thanks to their new President, A. J. Long, and two very hunter-minded secretaries, Mrs. Howard Hively and Mrs. Mary Stephenson, the show was grand. The jumps and the arena were good.

The children's division was dominated by Mr. Long's young son, Greg, who carried off nearly all of the honors. He has two grand horses, Mr. Rabbit and Short Cut.

The Jumper Division was unusual in the fact that one horse won nearly every class. Windsor Castle, a green jumper owned by Carl Miller, Jr. of Battle Creek, Mich., and ridden by Max Bonham, won four of the five classes. The big event in the Jumper Division was a high jumping class which was taken by a lovely young lady from Cincinnati, Lefreda Schneider, riding Trecla. This unusual gray gelding also was consistent enough to be Reserve Working Champion to the good going Over Timber, now owned by Carol DuBois. Trecla cleared 6'3" while three horses cleared 6' -; Beauty Ray, She Will and Casey Jones.

Mrs. Warner Atkins, riding her nice going Corpond made a clean sweep of the Conformation Hunter Division, with young Greg Long reserve with Mr. Rabbit. A junior also did very well in the Green Division and was Champion, namely Miss Bonnie Crudginton riding her Grandmother's lovely horse, Pacific Isle. Bob Egan was Reserve with Blue Monday.

This is quite a "young" show and I predict it will continue to be as popular as it is now. The mid-west needs more shows at this time of year. N.M.B.

Buffalo International

For the first time in many years the weather cooperated with this particular horse show and the rains didn't come, so the spectators and the entries all enjoyed a really good show. The riders and horses from Rochester did themselves proud as the equitation champion, the green Working Reserve Champion, the Working Hunter Champion and both winners in the Jumper division all hailed from this city.

All the classes were well filled but it was the open jumpers who provided the greatest thrills for the spectators as the courses were good and the competition keen. Fourteen-year-old Marcia Pierson deserves special credit for her fine riding as she piloted Handy Andy to victory and gathered many ribbons toward the championship with Highbridge. There were no special exhibitions this year other than a very pretty display of Lipizzans in harness, this display was put on by the Genesee Brewery.

Devon Horse Show

Margaret L. Smith

A record 800 horses competed for top honors at the week-long Devon Horse Show, making it the largest show in its 62-year history and the largest outdoor show in the Eastern United States.

The "royalty" of the vast horse show realm was there, the roster of horses' names including those which have been in championship lists year after year at the big shows.

Yet, in spite of the huge entry list, the market in championships was cornered by a handful of exhibitors, some of whom won two or more tri-colors.

Lakelawn Farms, of Southern Pines, S. C., was the leading championship winner, taking home three of the prized tri-color ribbons. These included the conformation hunter championship captured by their famous blue ribboner Sun Dial; reserve green conformation hunter award to five-year-old Royal Zest, and the reserve working hunter championship won by Little Trip. All the Lakelawn horses were ridden by Ed Daniels except in the ladies' classes, when Miss Betty Beryl Schenk was in the saddle.

Oak Ridge Farms, Pittsford, N. Y., completely dominated the jumper division, with First Chance way out in front to gain the championship title, and Sonora, not too far behind, in the reserve spot. Adolph Mogavero was aboard the Oak Ridge horses.

Morton W. Smith, Middleburg, Va., rode his new four-year-old skewbald gelding, Witchcraft, to the championship spot in the green conformation hunter division, and also to the reserve place in the young hunter section. Witchcraft is not only a first-year horse, but this was his first big show. Smith said he is a full brother to Sombrero, who in his heyday maintained the position of top working hunter in the U. S. for several years.

Witchcraft, who earned 14 points in the green conformation division, was closely contested by Royal Zest, who ended with 13 1/2 points.

Another double winner was Cottage Den, owned by Ratliff Stables, Pass Christian, Mississippi, ridden by Miss Laurie Ratliff, who won the working hunter championship with 17 points and also earned the title of Champion Lady's Hunter. Young Miss Ratliff gave herself a birthday present when she won the ladies' working hunter event, for she celebrated her seventeenth birthday that day. She had competed in children's events the Saturday before, but actually did better in the adult competition.

Two other repeaters were George E. Fernley, Plymouth Meeting, Pa., who had the champion and reserve champion Welsh pony, filly or mare, and Liseter Hall Farm, Newtown Square who captured champion and reserve for Welsh ponies, colt or stallion.

In the working hunter division, Irish Warrior, owned by Irl A. Daffin, Lancaster, Pa. won three blue ribbons - the stake class, the event for Thoroughbred working hunters, and the class for foxhunting field performance. These actually added up to more blue ribbons than were won by any other horse in the division, but since there were no championship points in the foxhunting field class, the "Warrior" was credited with only ten. Had that class carried points, he would have finished just two points behind Cottage Den's 17, and three more than the reserve champ's 13. Irish Warrior was beautifully ridden throughout the show by charming Mrs. Joseph Ferguson and was also a member of the winning hunt team.

It was somewhat unusual that only two of the five hunter champions won the stake class, and some failed to place at all in this important event. The two champions who did win stake classes were Sir Gold, owned by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Scheetz, green working hunter champion, and Mrs. Winston F. Guest's Camed, young hunter champion.

Lakelawn's aged chestnut gelding, Sun Dial, winner of countless championships during his ring career, amassed the largest number of points in any division of the show - an impressive twenty-three - to win the conformation championship. He ended with three blues, a second, two thirds and a fourth. One of his important victories was the Corinthian class, which he also had won last year, giving his owners two legs on the cup. Sun Dial got off to a slow start, and at the beginning The Duke of Paonian, from the stables of John S. Pettibone, Middleburg, Va., and Waiting Home, owned and shown by Miss Peggy Augustus, Cobham, Va., exchanged victories to take the lead alternately, until Sun Dial began to come up from behind. Both horses had won their model classes, Waiting Home in lightweight, and "The Duke" in middle-heavyweight. Waiting Home, with three other blues, was a formidable contender as the division went into the stake, having collected 17 1/2 points by that time. However, he balked on the outside course and failed to place. A very short time before Miss Augustus had suffered a bad spill when her working hunter, Little Sailor, fell with her at the bank jump coming into the ring. Presumably she was somewhat shaken up, although not injured. The handsome six-year-old Duke of Paonian, who was leading green hunter when he was four, performed in his customary excellent steady style, under the guidance of Betty Schenk, and gained 19 1/2 points to win the championship by means of three blues, a second, a third and two fourths.

Mrs. J. Deane Rucker's beautiful dappled gray, Spanish Mint, won the stake class, gaining two legs on the Cassilis Challenge trophy which has been in competition since 1937. Spanish Mint had won it in 1956, and two other owners also have two legs on the trophy.

It was the green hunter division that really brought the horses out, fifty of the eager youngsters competing in two of the classes in the division. One of these was the stake, copped by Sir Gold, with Jenepher McLean in the saddle, and tying for the championship with Mr. Rabbit, of Long Acres Stables, Cincinnati, Ohio, ridden by Elfreda Schneider. The horses hacked off their 10-point tie, with Mr. Rabbit emerging as victor. This horse also won the same division last year when he was owned by Morton (Cappy) Smith.

One of the colorful events was the hunt teams, with seven teams contesting. Winner was the Goldens Bridge Hounds team, comprising three beauteous riders: Mrs. Carol Del Guercio on Champtown, Mrs. Joseph Ferguson on Irish Warrior, and Mrs. Arthur Hawkins riding Tourist's Encore. (This was still another time that Irish Warrior won a blue, but with no championship points.)

It was like "Christmas in May", when two beautiful four-in-hand coaches, usually associated with Christmas cards entered the ring for several classes. James K. Robinson's Crebilly Farms, West Chester, won the ring classes, but did not enter the coaching marathon, which they had won two legs on two trophies. Robinson is a vice president of the Devon Horse Show and Country Fair and was chairman with Lawrence B. Kelley of the show. This left the coaching marathon to the equipage owned by John M. Seabrook, Bridgeton, N. J., a Brewster shooting-break, which made the eight-mile run from Radnor to the Devon grounds in 53 3/4 minutes. Seabrook received two beautiful trophies for the event.

Immediately after this presentation, Isaac H. Clothier Jr., now in his eighties, and a founder of the Devon Horse Show, was awarded a life-time directorship and a pin bearing the official Devon insignia. He had served as chairman of the show for ten years during his long career. Presentation was made by Chairman Kelly.

Mr. Clothier made a brief speech recalling the early days of Devon, and paying tribute to many men and women, some of them no longer living, who had contributed to the success of the show throughout the years.

In the open jumper division Adolph Mogavero, of Oak Ridge Farms, quickly established himself as the leading rider and no one ever came close enough to him to constitute even a mild threat. He immediately started out taking blues with First Chance, easy-going chestnut mare which was jumper champion at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, Ont., last November. He piled up nearly as many victories with Sonora, which, along with Acapulco, was acquired from the Mexican Equestrian team a few months ago. Acapulco did not perform up to his usual standards, and was scratched after a few classes. Going into the Stake, First Chance had 16 points, so far ahead of the rest of the field that she couldn't possibly be beaten, and Sonora had 13. First Chance went on to win the stake for five more points and the championship with a total of 21 points, having won four firsts and one fourth. Sonora, although he went off course in the stake and was eliminated, still earned the title of reserve champion jumps before the whistle blew, requiring a jump-off won by Sonora. There were excellent performances in the handy jumper class when five horses had no faults, the jump-off going to First Chance. In the PHA class, Sonora and Douglaston, gray gelding owned by Mrs. Hugh M. Barclay, Pelham Manor, N. Y., battled it out with faultless performances, the victory going to Sonora in the jump-off. Incidentally, Mogavero, Sonora's rider, formerly rode Douglaston. Kelley is now the rider of the huge gray jumper.

The In and Out Devon stake, one of the most exacting of the difficult jumper courses, was captured by The Clown, owned and ridden by Miss Elizabeth C. Bosley, Unionville, after a jump-off with Saxon Wood. Both horses had perfect performances on the first round, Miss Bosley had been out of competition for about a day and a half, having been slightly injured when a horse she was schooling fell on her. She appeared to be good as new again for the In and Out and the of India. He is Dr. S. S. Nehru, president of the International Union of Bar Associations, who bears a striking resemblance to his cousin. (In fact, this scribe, seeing him in the judges' stand before he was announced, thought he really was the Prime Minister). Dr. Nehru assisted in the presentation of the Corinthian Working Hunter Challenge trophy to Miss Peggy Augustus, riding Little Sailor.

Another well-known visitor was Gypsy Rose Lee, attired very tastefully in a simple blue sheath dress. After presenting a trophy the former strip tease artist and current author, a very attractive woman, was quickly surrounded by a cordon of admiring males and spirited away from ringside. Other visitors were teen-age TV idol Dick Clark, and other TV stars from the Philadelphia Area.

A demonstration of polo maneuvers was presented one afternoon during the show by Col. Howard Fair and George Weymouth Jr., of the Brandywine Polo Team.

Other features included a competition with 13 points - two blues and a red. The closest horses in the division were Mr. and Mrs. David Kelley's Andante, Armonk, N. Y., and Saxon Wood, of Saxon Woods Farm, Tryon, N. C., each with nine points. Kelley rode Andante, while Saxon Wood was ridden at first by Robert Burke, and in the later classes by Gene Cunningham.

Andante won the FEI class and Eastern Area USET Challenge trophy for the third time, but could not retire the trophy because each time she had won it for a different owner - Leon S. Haymond in 1955 at Devon, Miriam Duffy in 1955 at Pennsylvania National, and for Kelley this year. However, Kelley had ridden the mare on each of these occasions. The trophy is competed for at the three big shows on this continent, and three owners have two legs on the cup.

One of the thrillers was the knockdown and out time limit event in which both Sonora and Saxon Wood made 13 clear rest of the classes, and also resumed riding in the hunter events.

But the real gallery attractions in the jumper classes were the wild rides of 13-year-old Tommy McGurk aboard Coronation, an eight-year-old mare owned by St. Jude's Horse Show Association, Troy N. Y. The mare tore uncollectedly around the courses at breakneck speed, apparently considering herself a 'chaser at Belmont, and more often than not scattering and shattering timber as she went. Young Tommy appeared full of confidence and utterly unconcerned about it all, while the crowds shrieked and strong horsemen quailed. Some were afraid to look. However, Tommy finally placed second in the open class with only a half fault and fifth in the stake class with 2 1/2 faults, after a toss-off with two other horses who scored the same.

The show was honored by the presence of a distinguished visitor, a cousin of Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru between the Fairmount Guards and the Pennsylvania State Mounted Police, won handily by the latter; an exhibition by the Valley Forge Cadets band and drill team, with fully manned tanks as an added attraction; Police motorcycle thrill riders, and twice daily exhibitions by two four-pony chariot teams from the pony farm of William Winkelman, Lohrville, Iowa, a brother of Dwight Winkelman, owner of Lakelawn Farms.

The attendance probably was the largest in the 62-year history of Devon. Nightly the stands were filled, and on Friday, Memorial Day, and Saturday, the spectators were packed in like baled sheafs of tobacco. The SRO sign was out for the grandstand, and there was barely room for standees on the spacious grounds.

The large attendance was undoubtedly encouraged by the best weather that Devon has had for several years, although it was nippy enough for heavy coats most evenings. It rained only once - and that a violent cloud burst during a dinner hour - naturally right before the big FEI class. We hope that Devon has hexed the weather jinx that has plagued Eastern horse shows this year.

English Pony Stallion Show

Lt. Col. C. E. G. Hope

The Ponies of Britain Club Spring Stallion Show, at Ascot (April 16) and the Ponies of Britain Club which presents it will always be an enduring tribute to the memory of the late Miss Gladys Yule, who so loyally and generously collaborated with its founder and organizer, Mrs. Glenda Spooner, whose permanent achievement this is. The value of this organisation gauged from the fact that, when Miss Yule's sudden death last August left this prime interest of hers unprovided for, the members stepped in and, in response to Mrs. Spooner's frank appeal, produced in a few weeks the necessary sum of money in subscriptions and moor, where it is preserved in its purity, which is not, alas, now on the Moor itself.

The Welsh Mountain ponies must claim pride of place, for not only were they very well represented but it was a Welshman, that unique and evergreen Coed Coch Madog, bred and exhibited by Miss M. Brodrick, of Coed Coch, Abergele, N. Wales, who became supreme stallion of the show against every other representative of pony breeding, including Thoroughbreds, Arabs and Anglo-Arabs. His presence and conformation are unfaultable, and his personality brims over whether on the move or at rest.

His victory in his class was not a covenants to keep the Club and the shows going.

The show, now four years old, is unique in conception, being the only national pony stallion show, and its success has vindicated the courage that launched it. The great support it receives from breeders of every kind alone proves the need for it, and there is no doubt of the stimulus it has given to the export trade in British Mountain and Moorland ponies, especially to the United States. The present fashion there, for Welsh and Shetland ponies in particular, makes this show a matter of some interest to American breeders and buyers. Here are seen together the best stallions and young stock of all the breeds and the most close and interesting comparisons are possible. The Welsh breeds predominate, but there is a great scope for the future in the less fashionable breeds, especially the Dartmoor, however, for he defeated ponies of great quality such as Gredington Hynod and Coed Coch Planed (one of his sons), both exhibited by Lord Kenyon; Cenarth Blue Boy (Mrs R. J. Crisp); and Hinton Clown (Mrs. E. S. Smith). Hynod and Clown age 5 and 4 years old and so worth watching for the future. The colt class saw a newcomer reach the top, the 3-year-old cream, Marsh Crusader, bred and exhibited by Miss Beryl Prior; on this, his first appearance at this show, he won his class and the young stock championship. He is by that grand old sire, Coed Coch Glyndwr, out of Revel Cream Bun (W.SB.9493), so is worth keeping an eye on.

A type that people are doing much to encourage in England is the Welsh cob, which, attaining heights of 15 h.h., is not everybody's idea of a pony. But the great stamina and action of this type make it a most valuable breeding ingredient for both jumpers and children's ponies. Unfortunately not all the cobs come up in quality, performance or appearance to the champion, Mr. A. D. Thomas's 13-year-old chestnut, Llwynog-y-Garth, who has yet to be beaten in his class.

The leading Shetland pony stallions in England may be said to be Harviestoun Rusko (Miss S. E. Ferguson, Claines, Worcester), Brigadoon (Miss M. J. King, Anslow, Burton-on-Trent, Staffs), Harviestoun Ptarmigan (Mrs. E. H. Parsons, Lymington, Hants) and Joseph of Marshwood (Miss A. R. Ritchie, Skene, Aberdeenshire), and they were placed in that order at this show. Heredity shows itself, for Rusko's 3-yr-old son, Mrs. Parsons's Eschonchan Ronay, took first place in the colts class.

No changes were made in the acknowledged leadership of veterans in the other stallion classes. Miss Ferguson's Janus, bred by Miss Calmady-Hamlyn from the famous Jude, was the best Dartmoor, but the 4-yr-old Otlands Jeremy Fisher, bred and exhibited by Mrs. G. F. Dod, (until recently Miss Jane Durrant), Downe Kent, who was second to him is well on the way up. I have watched him from his yearling days and have liked him better every year. The colt class was won by a newcomer, 3-yr-old blue-grey, Bluejohn (Mr and Mrs A. R. B. Owen, Stoke D'Abernon, Surrey), a well-made colt and big for his age.

After the Welsh, the New Forest ponies are more thick on the ground than any other and next in popularity to the former as children's ponies and all-round performers. Miss Olive Burry's David Gray again was the best stallion, and one of his sons, Duikers Happy and Glorious (A. E. Burry, Brockenhurst, Hants) won the colt class. In my opinion the best of the larger breeds for children's riding, especially for hunting, hunter trials, one-day events and the like, is the Connemara and there are some very good stallions active in England just now. Once again the winner this year was the 17-year-old Snowball (A. C. Noakes, Brookland, Romney Marsh, Kent), whose action is a joy to watch. Coming on well is a 5-yr-old, Sean of Leam (J. O'M. Meade, Chepstow, Monmouthshire), who was second in the composite class of stallions and young stock.

True-blue Scots, "wha hae" and all that, have tended to look askance at a mere Sassenach daring to breed Highland ponies - and down in the "deep South" of Sussex into the bargain, but Mrs. H. P. Warren, of New Calgary Stud, Maplehurst, Sussex, has confounded them all by establishing lines that can hold their own in any show ring. In fact she has taught the Scots a thing or two and her great silver-dun stallion, Mackoinneach, which she bred and exhibits in partnership with Miss R. Hare, now 10 winner of his class, is to run this coming year on the Isle of Rum, one of the traditional homes of the Highland pony. Here again heredity triumphed, for it was his son, Caber Feidh of New Calgary, who won the colt class for Mrs. Warren as well.

Fells and Dales were not represented at Ascot this year, and the Exmoors only by young stock, the winner being Skyman (Miss P. McElligott, Berhampstead, Herts), a 2-yr-old son of a great Exmoor stallion, Heatherman.

That completes the tally of the Mountain and Moorland breeds. The other multitude of classes - first crosses, riding ponies, Arabs, Anglo-Arabs, Palominos, and the like are of primary interest to English breeders only, for the production of the English riding pony both for showing and utility. There are certain small Thoroughbreds who have established a reputation for producing good pony stock from Mountain and Moorland mares, which accounts for this class in a pony show, the winner of which was Miss M. de Beaumont's Clieveden Boy (by Ujiji out of Fairroad), second being Miss N. Jelley's Gay Presto (by Precipitation out of Jovette). The Arab is also in great demand as a sire of children's ponies, supreme example being the almost legendary Naseel, who stands in Ireland; but I am not convinced yet of the value - with one or two outstanding exceptions - of the English-bred Anglo-Arab. Winning Arab stallion was Algolson (by Algol out of Myolanda) bred and exhibited by George Ruxton, Basingstoke, Hants.

In the stallion championship for the Super Premium, Clieveden Boy stood reserve to the Welshman, Coed Coch Madog, who, as stated above, went on then to win the supreme championship of the show, with nobody disagreeing.

Entries for the Canadian Annual Inter-Branch Rally, to be held at Richmond, have been definitely received from one United States Pony Club and seven Canadian Pony Clubs, and there is hope that two more United States Pony Clubs will be competing. With definite entries received and estimated entries, the Rally Committee expects 49 riders, 19 helpers and 5 team captains, making a total of 73 children, and as usual the majority of them are girls. Pony Clubs which have sent in entries so far are Genesee Valley Pony Club of Avon, N. Y.; Junior Bengal Lancers of Halifax, N. S.; Eglinton Pony Club of Toronto, Ontario; Toronto-North York Pony Club of King, Ontario; Ancaster Pony Club of Cainsville, Ontario; London Hunt Pony Club of London, Ontario; Montreal Horsemanship Club of Montreal and the host branch, Ottawa Valley Hunt Pony Club, Ottawa, Ontario. It is regretted that Pony Clubs in Western Canada will not be represented mainly because of high transportation costs.

The first entry to be received was from Major General Roger Reynolds, District Commissioner of the Genesee Valley Hunt Pony Club at Avon, New York. Major Reynolds and his wife are former members of the Ottawa Valley Hunt, when they resided on the Aylmer Road, and their many friends in the Ottawa District will be glad to see him and his wife at the Pony Club Rally. British Polo Prospects

W. Holden White

London - When the gal named "Miss British Polo" a few months ago announced her engagement to "Mister Calendar Year 1958" taking all things into consideration it looked like small type, back-page news. The wedding would be inauspicious with but the family present. Thanks to the efforts, hopes, and imagination of intimate friends of the bride (the 18 British polo clubs and the members thereof) the wedding has been a glittering one and the marriage augurs to be a solid success. Perhaps not as glittering as in some past seasons, but with enough dazzle and for sure with a firmer foundation which should bear future fruit.

Except for the Cowdray Gold Cup in July, when Rubirosa is expected to bring over from France the two brilliant Argentine boys Juan Carlos Harriett (8 goals) and Francisco Dorignac (7 goals), there will be no visiting teams here this year such as we have had annually from the Argentine, India, Brazil, etc. . But what is going to do more good than anything else for British polo in this season of 1958 is there are a host of "visiting firemen" here to play the season who will be scattered about various clubs and teams.

Glittering, high-goal teams here for a season do bring in the paying public but they are definitely a menace to the development and education of the younger and low-goal players without whom the future of polo here - or anywhere else - is in great jeopardy. In order to give these high-powered teams even a practice game the veteran "old sweats" are put against them and the neophytes sit by. This year with itinerant "visiting firemen" scattered through more clubs in practice games as well as matches neophytes will get far more coaching and experience than at anytime since 1939.

At Prince Phillip's home club, Windsor, are: Tico Lalor the annual, irre-

pressable visitor from the Argentine; brilliant little Alec Mihanovitch also from the Argentine; and Diaz Alberdi of the famous Argentine family. They will help enormously the big squad of Household Brigade present and future polo players. Wyndham Lacey (nephew of the great Luis) is at Cirencester to aid and abet their strong lot of players. Two old friends of British polo over the years, little Rojas Lanusse and Carlos de la Cerna are here to freelance around all the clubs and join whatever teams wanting them. At up and coming Cheshire (they went like bombs and made trouble for everyone in tournaments last season) they will again have a top visitor. Boyd Gibbins at the Silver Leys Club goes into the fray with the lovable, ball-busting Prem Singh, Kishin Singh, and a newcomer R. Jaitha. All of these are Indians. Particularly the Cowdray Club, ever since the war the biggest club in England and always with a host of "visiting firemen" or "outside" teams, has none this season unless one counts the annual return of the always brilliant Rao Rajah Hanut Singh who has played there for so many years he should be labelled a Cowdray "native".

When it comes to the big stuff, alias the Cowdray Gold Cup, all the domestic higher-handicapped players plus all the above visitors will of course one way or another be collected into teams. At the moment with the Rubirosa team it looks as if there will be six teams battling for that gold crown.

This will be the glitter of the season but the 6-12 goal tournament has been and still is the stalwart of British polo since the war. The Windsor Cup, the County Cup, and a swarm of Cowdray Cups are the things to win and where one gets the battles cum fun. Seymour H. "Shorty" Knox with Helen Knox and their 7-goal "Norty" have just been here for a weekend. "Shorty" (incidentally we reminisced and decided we had first played polo against each other in 1922) played three games mounted on Cowdray ponies while "Norty" eschewed his 7-goal mallet for a tennis bat to win the British Court Tennis championship. But in watching the final of a 6-12 goal tournament at Cowdray both Knoxes exclaimed, "We certainly do not get anywhere near as good 12-goal polo as this anywhere at home."

So lets look at the "medium" (6 to 12)

teams which at this moment "should" be in the running through the season: Windsor: Lord Patrick Beresford, Col. Gerard Legh, Humphrey Guinness, and Prince Phillip are a team always galloping and the way Guinness and Prince Phillip play together in the back end is not only something to watch but almost impregnable to get through. Friar Park: Archie David, Ronny Ferguson, Tico Lalor, and Capt. Greham also play at Windsor and are a magnificently mounted combination with Lalor almost a team in himself when in the modd. Cirencester: The back-bone consists of Col. Tony McConnell, Wyndham Lacey, and Hon. George Bathurst and they are to choose a No. 1 out of many possibles. Last year this team, without the ball-busting of Lacey, though they did not win much was the evenest and toughest 12-goal team to beat in England. Should pick up more than some chips this year. Cheshire: Pat Moseley, Mickey Moseley, Lord Rocksavage and their afore-mentioned "fireman". They will go like smoke and bull-dozers. Well mounted, they are never beaten until the final whistle. Cowdray: Three teams here all of which must be reckoned with. The orange jerseys of Cowdray itself will have Daphne Lakin, Peter Dollar, John Lakin, and Peter Cruden. A veteran team which, with John Lakins inevitable great play, has always to be reckoned with. Brewhurst: A new team with old faces this season has young comer Jeremy Barber, Douglas Riley-Smith, Alec Harper, and Gerald Critchley. They have already won the Tyro Cup tournament at Cowdray Park. Polo Cottage: Paul Withers, Fred Withers, Hanut Singh, and Jack Archer-Shee. Being as how we mount half the team we will refrain from comment except to say they are sure to make a lot of trouble and take some beating.

One will see from the above that, since we wrote last October, the good news is John Lakin, then threatened with T-B, is back in action. He is not playing as much as in former seasons, but nevertheless is just as effective. All one has to do is put a stick into John's hand, sit him on anything from a donkey on up, and he plays battling polo. For a time this winter there was apprehension wonderful Humphrey Guinness might be dismounted. "Humph" always walks as if he was held together by string and baling wire and so he is, but his back really got the better of him and he had to quit hunting. But the back has been strung up and the wonderful warrior has returned to the polo wars.

Charlie Smith Ryland, the best British polo player developed since the war, is still hors de combat thrombosis in his leg, but this improves and the medics say perhaps he can return to polo in 1959. In the meantime he has just become a joint-master of the Warwickshire. Charlie's fine young polo pony Ice Gold walked off with the top rosette over an entry of 74 polo ponies at the newly inaugurated Ascot Horse Show.

Unstoppable, 72 year-old Sam Hunter, who has taken over the chairmanship of the Cirencester Polo Club, is just returned from a long visit to the Argentine. Despite a bad back and ribs Sam played some estancia and match polo while there. Owing about the nicest and most uniform string of light-weight polo ponies in England, Sam added three hand-picked Argentines to them while he was away.

Perhaps not brilliant, but for sure this is going to be an interesting, healthy, good fun polo season in these parts. (Reprinted from "Horse and Hound")

Southbury Country Polo

The Southbury Country Polo Association, bolstered by new members and installed in a new location, opened its season on May 18. The group will continue through June before the summer lay-off.

Ponies and equipment have been moved from the Kellogg farm in Southbury to the Good Hill Farms of Sebastian Pond in Woodbury where a new field has been prepared.

The new field lies diagonally across the road from the center of New England parachute-jumping activity and Southbury players are reconciled to the chance that an errant college 'chutist can land in the middle of a fast chukker at any time. The airport and jumping area also is on Pond property.

One of the more ardent 'chutists is Peter Carlton of Morristown, N. J., a senior on the Yale varsity polo team this past season. Since the bulk of the Southbury ponies are provided by the Yale Polo Association, it seems probable that Carlton will "drop in" on the Southbury action - one way or another. C. W. K.

European Polo Tour

Four recent college polo players will play a series of matches in England and Europe this summer, including one before Queen Elizabeth II of England.

The quartet are Frolic Weymouth of Wilmington, Del., retiring Yale polo captain; Pete Baldwin and Stan Willoway of Cornell's intercollegiate championship trio, both of Hawaii, and Dick Reimenschneider of the University of Virginia team, whose home is in Milwaukee.

The team will leave here late this month for England where they will begin their tour with games at Cowdray Park outside London. Officials there told the American group that Queen Elizabeth II will see at least one of their games.

After several games in England, they will go to France and Spain, returning home late in July. C. W. K.

National 20-Goal Tourney To Be Played At Meadow Brook

Bill Briordy

It's been some time now since the Meadow Brook Club on Long Island - once the mecca of the country's leading high goal tournaments - has been the scene of a topnotch competition.

But this year, the famed club regains some of the lustre it lost not long after World War II when the National 20-goal championship will be staged on the club's new fields at Jericho.

According to Henry Lewis, the secretary-treasurer of the United States Polo Association, and Roy Moriarty - he headed the Squadron A indoor polo program - five and possibly six teams will ride in the 20 goal. The tournament is slated to start late in June.

Paul Butler is expected to come on from Chicago with such stars as ten-goal Cecil Smith, Don Beveridge and Harold Barry, while East Aurora, N. Y., will be represented by Northrup Knox, Seymour Knox Jr. and Seymour Knox Sr. and Lewis Smith. Meadow Brook probably will enter two teams.

Clarence C. (Buddy) Combs, the only ten-goaler indoors, is slated to play at Meadow Brook this season. Moriarty, who worked untiringly in an effort to make the past Squadron A. season a success, will direct the polo set-up at Meadow Brook this year. Originally, Herb Pennell had been listed to manage the set-up.

The Meadow Brook fields are in excellent shape, and formal weekly matches are scheduled to begin within a week. According to Lewis, Meadow Brook will stage a benefit high goal match, for the Boy Scouts of America, early this season.

New Polo Stick

"Major John Board, tells me that recently he had the opportunity of trying out a new type of handle to a polo-stick, devised by Col. (Bunny) Matthew-Lannowe, a famous player of the past, and can recommend it to any polo enthusiast who is a natural ball-game player.

"Its virtue is its octagonal shape which enable (on the rare occasions when it is necessary) the player to shift his grip and encourages the proper use of the fingers.

"Altogether it gives a more comfortable and controlled grip than the usual shape, and Board says he only wonders that nobody ever thought of it before." (Reprinted from "Horse and Hound").

Yale Polo Team

Ritchie Jones of West Town, Penna., who hunts regularly with the Brandywine Hunt, will captain next year's Yale varsity polo team.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jones was elected captain at the annual dinner-meeting of the Yale Polo Association in New Haven on May 13.

Young Jones, a sophomore and a member of the junior varsity this past season, succeeds Frolic Weymouth of Wilmington, Del., as head of the Bulldog riders. Curiously there were no member's of Yale's junior class on the Yale squad this past season, hence the election of a sophomore.

Seniors Bark Hickox, Perry Welch and Pete Carlton, in addition to Weymouth, were awarded varsity "Y's" at the dinner.

Golden Lullaby) out of the registered part-bred Arab mare Jealousy, she being by the Arab Raftan out of a registered Highland pony mare Salt. High and Mighty is eligible himself or entry in the Part-bred Arab Stud Book.

High and Mighty's dam Jealousy was completely unstopable with hounds, although she had an excellent mouth at other times. I tried all sorts of bits, drop nosebands, etc., but eventually I put her into a straight bar-breaking bit with keys, used with extra long reins which passed through the bit-rings and back to the Ds on the saddle. She was much more manageable in this, and after three or four days' hunting, I was able to replace the breaking-bit with a soft rubber-mouthed snaffle.

By the end of the season I was able to revert to normal reins, and she went quite kindly, although she was always a little inclined to take hold. I used this soft rubber snaffle also when breaking-in High and Mighty, and much prefer it to an ordinary jointed snaffle.

I believe when riding a puller it is essential to leave its head alone until it is necessary to pull up. The extra long reins give some leverage which helps on a very strong horse, and the mild bit seems to encourage it not to fight.

in the warm glow that comes to a man when he knows he has a real good one in his hands.

Eight horses started in the Belmont, and the race was run in two divisions sort of.

Page Seven, Chance It Tony, Martins Rullah and Saferis put on the preliminary run, while *Cavan, Tim Tam, C. V. Whitney's Flamingo and Wheatley Stable's Nasco waited for the front ones to get done with the foolishness and back up.

With half a mile to go *Cavan was fifth, Tim Tam sixth, Nasco, seventh and Flamingo, eighth.

Pete Anderson, on *Cavan, followed his trainer's instructions; he waited for Tim Tam to move, and then moved with him.

Tim Tam under Ismael Valenzuela, was forced to go outside of the in-the-way horses while *Cavan took the shorter route.

Bending around the final curve, Tim Tam was in the lead for a moment, then *Cavan surged through and bounded out in front. He increased his margin and won by six lengths.

Valenzuela whipped with his right hand and Tim Tam swerved in, the rider switched his bat and flailed frantically, but the flying leader soared away.

Even on three legs, Tim Tam was 5 1/2 lengths in front of Flamingo, which crossed under the wire three-quarters of a length before Nasco.

Chance It Tony, Martins Rullah, Saferis and Page Seven checked in from four to 32 lengths behind the money horses. The 1 1/2-mile race was run in 2:30 1/5. The record is 2:26 3/5.

An ovation rang out for *Cavan as the fans realized an upset was aborning.

The horse ambulance met Tim Tam at the stable opening, when Valenzuela unsaddled, but the colt left the track under his own power.

*Cavan's career has been brief but brilliant. He won only 1 race in 4 starts at two, but has 4 for 5 this year. After taking two allowance races, he finished fifth behind Lincoln Road in the Jersey Stakes. He seemed to "find" himself in the Peter Pan, a week before the Belmont, winning like a champion with a tremendous finish.

With the Belmont prize of $73,440, he has earnings of $98,007 for 1958. In '57 he brought in $3,000.

Mr. O'Connell, who has been buying two yearlings a season from Paddy Prendergast, at the Curragh (Ireland) for the past few years, picked up *Cavan from that gentleman in 1956.

The colt is by Mossborough (sire of Ballymoss), out of Willow Ann, by Solario. *Cavan was bred by F. F. Tuthill, in Ireland.

Ballymoss won the Irish Derby and the English St. Leger last season.

*Cavan's Belmont mutuels payoff was $11.80.

First Landing Again

C. T. Chenery's First Landing made his record 3 wins in 3 starts, in taking the five-furlong Juvenile Stakes on June 2. The son of *Turn-to, from Hildene, by Bubbling Over, won by a length over Circle M Farm's Watch Your Step. Bagdad was nine lengths back in third place and a neck ahead of Matisse.

Watch Your Step led by 1 1/2 lengths coming into the stretch, and First Landing, which had been racing in second place, moved up to challenge. Hildene's fifth stakes winner outgamed his rival and took the $22,360 prize. His win puts his money-earned at $27,885.

First Landing won his first race through the disqualification of Restless Wind. He needed no help from the stewards in taking the two that followed. Eddie Arcaro rode the two-year-old colt in the Juvenile.

Mr. Chenery bred First Landing. The colt's dam produced Hill Prince, Prince Hill, Third Brother and Mangohick before him.

Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Plucky Roman beat two four-year-old fillies and three six-year-old mares to take the Top Flight Handicap at Belmont on June 4. She earned $17,672.50 and returned a mutuel of $14.40.

1958 Dressage Test of the Three-Day Event

H. Stewart Treviranus

The new Dressage Test for the Three-Day Event, long overdue, was published last month. It may well be the one to be used at the next Olympic Games. The '56 equivalent test, used at Stockholm, has long been strongly criticised by most experts as being quite impossible if carried out to the letter. This criticism was justified since it required for example 10 metre circles and two-track movements at the ORDINARY gaits, and if the horse demonstrated collected gaits instead, it was left to the judge to penalize the horse or not.

"Collection" was taken out of the Test after Helsinki, presumably in order to reduce the relative importance of dressage versus the other tests, cross-country and jumping, and also to quieten the critics who felt that too much emphasis or collection was not conducive to the free forward movement required of a field horse.

The new '58 Test has been written to obviate the criticism in para. 1 and thus acknowledges that merely to omit the term "collected" achieves nothing, if the movements required are the same. The KEY to the present Test lies in the footnote, to wit: "The collection which is required in this test only means that the horse must be on the bit." While this may be a free translation of the French equivalent, the position of the horse when "on the bit" really depends on the degree of training of the horse (not to mention his conformation). The emphasis therefore particularly in the judges' eye, must be on "degree", since a horse ridden in hand cannot be anywhere but on the bit, at all gait variations. It is assumed that judges will not demand the rather higher action of the academically collected gaits.

A certain amount of duplication still remains, but the thirty movements now each carry a maximum of six points each, rather than ten as formerly. Further it should be noted that the top score of six no longer carries the definition "excellent" but rather "very good", emphasising that the all-round horse is no longer expected to display perfection in the dressage ring.

For the same reason the judge has also at his disposal a maximum of 48 points to award for GENERAL IMPRESSIONS, i. e., impulsion, cadence, freedom of horse, correct application of aids, et al, which is much more in keeping with the fundamental requirements and characteristics of the Three-Day horse.

U. S. Three-Day Team

Finally, after an early spring of torrential California rains which prevented the use of jumps and, at times, even the dressage ring, trainees for the U. S. Three-Day Team have been able to settle down to steady work at John Galvin's Rancho San Fernando Rey, and already, working under the guidance of team manager, Colonel Milo Matteson and coach, Hans Moeller, have shown marked progress.

The team is fortunate in having two able men to develop horses and riders for the coming Olympics. Team manager, Colonel Matteson, a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, was member of the U. S. Army Equestrian Team at Fort Riley from 1934 to 1940, and was a member of the 1936 Olympic team in Berlin. During his army career, Colonel Matteson saw the cavalry mechanized, and during World War II served with both horse cavalry and mechanized units, spending two years in the China-Burma-India Theater. In 1954, he retired to live in Carmel, California.

Coach Hans Moeller, who has worked for John Galvin during the past year, received his training in the Austrian Army. He is a graduate of the Austrian Military Academy and attended the Austrian Cavalry School. He came to the United States four and a half years ago.

Among those now in training at Rancho San Fernando Rey, is Wilson Dennehy of Lake Forest, Illinois, 20 years old, winner of horsemanship classes at the National in Madison Square Gardens, and eighth place winner in the 1947 Wofford Cup Trials at Colorado Springs. He has three horses in training; his own "Troubleshooter," "Volco's Pierre," owned by Norman Coates of Morristown, N. J.; and "D'Artagnan," owned by Ann Durland of Ithaca, N. Y.

David Lurie, aged 18, of Clayton, Missouri, is another trainee. He was 5th place winner in the 1957 Wofford Cup, and St. Louis' junior champion rider three years running. David is working with his two horses, "Pepito" and "Prince Jezroes."

The young men work out daily over jumps or in the dressage ring, in preparation for their first big test - the Wofford Cup Trials to be held at Colorado Springs in August, at which time the U. S. Equestrian Olympic Committee will select six riders to return to Rancho San Fernando Rey for further training. In 1959 a final selection of three competitors will be made to represent the United States at the Pan-American Games in Chicago in 1959 and the 1960 Olympics. As a preliminary warm-up for the Wofford Cup, they will compete in the First Annual Pebble Beach Three-Day Event at Pebble Beach, California, June 27 - 29. In addition to their Three-Day Team activities, all three riders are continuing their education by attending morning classes at Santa Barbara Junior College - a full day for anyone. In June of this year, they will be joined by two more trainees, Michael Plumb of Syosset, Long Island, and Miss Patricia Galvin, 18 year-old daughter of ranch owner John Galvin, who last summer became the country's second woman ever to finish in the U. S. E. T's National a three-day event when she placed fourth in the Wofford Cup. Mrs. William Rochester, Jr., of Warrenton, Va., was placed in the event at Nashville in 1954.

A tradition of fine horses and equestrian skills is not new to Rancho San Fernando Rey, for its history dates back to the days of the early Spanish Caballeros when it was part of the old Santa Barbara Mission holding, and the Californios, so famous for their horsemanship, galloped over the oak-studded hills. To this day, the old mission brand of the cross and serpent is still used on cattle of Wilson Dennehy performs the "shoulder in" during dressage training.

Rancho San Fernando Rey, in 1938, the rancho was purchased by Dwight Murphy, Santa Barbara horseman and member of the California Racing Board. It was here that Mr. Murphy bred his famous Palominos, established the golden horse of California as a breed, and turned the ranch into a show place visited yearly by hundreds of tourists. The climate and terrain of the rancho, much like parts of Italy, should prove an excellent place in which to acclimatize horses and riders for their big test in Rome in 1960.

a half miles over brush. The Murphy-Smith combination got back into action to complete their trio of victories, this time with West Wind Farm's Expedient, winner of a hurdle race earlier in the season at Memphis and winner of the novice Glenview over brush at Oxmoor last year. A well-matched field of five came out for The Oxmoor and made it by far the best contest of the day. At no point were there more than nine lengths separating first from last and for almost all the running the proverbial blanket would have covered them all. Away slowly, Port Call went to the front after the first fence and lead for two out of the two and a half turns of the course. For the first turn Local Run provided him with close competition for the lead but then began lugging to the inside badly and dropped to fourth and fifth during the middle running. Ambition under M. O. Buder then took over the contending duties only to put in a bad one at the two mile mark which unseated Buder and sent him to the hospital with a lacerated thigh and other injuries. Meanwhile Here's Why had been going evenly in the middle of the pack and Expedient had been doing likewise and biding his time. Into the back side last time around Port Call began to give it up and Crompton Smith moved Expedient into the lead at the thirteenth fence with three fences to go. At the next to last it was Expedient showing the way by three lengths to Port Call, who had a length margin over Here's Why with Local Run another length and a half back. In the final turn Bonnie went to work on the lugging Local Run and did a good job of getting run out of his mound through the turn, over the last fence and down the stretch but he was no match for Expedient, who crossed the finish two lengths in front. Four and a half lengths further back Here's Why was third and another four back to Port Call for fourth.

Hunt Team Race

An interesting unsanctioned race, The Oldham County Hounds Hunt Team Race, was won by the Cincinnati team over the Louisville team by virtue of a victory by Nonie Steer on her own Sir Winston and Louis Prince on Donegal 2nd. The teams are composed of two men and one lady. The ladies start ahead of the men and compete against each other with the men following and competing against each other. The race is run at two and a half miles over the timber course. As some one remarked "You can stand in one place and have horses going by you all the time."

The fifty inch pony race for riders twelve years old and younger was won by Miss Helen Reutlinger on her own Thunder who was first under the wire ahead of Miss Lucy Sonntag on her Smoky. Sherwood Raymond and Fitzie were third. Buckie Woodward on Folly won the fiftyeight inch pony race for riders sixteen and under. John Metero on Cookie was second and Leslie Ann Peege on Irish Charm third.

Plucky Roman, a four-year-old daughter of Roman, out of Hasty Request, by Requested, held fifth position in the early stages of the mile-and-a-sixteenth test for females. She moved up into third place behind Mrs. G. S. Smith's Outer Space and Miss Mabel D. Lewis's Happy Princess at the stretch. Then she wore down the leaders to win by two lengths. Outer Space held second place over Happy Princess by three-quarters of a length. Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Searching finished fourth.

Searching was the favorite at 17 to 10. All the money went to lady owners. Only two gentlemen were represented in the race. Mr. C. T. Chenery, whose Williamette ended up fifth, and Mr. George D. Widener, whose Rare Treat earned (?) last place.

Searching was top-weighted at 122 pounds. Plucky Roman carried 114.

The winner's share of the Top Flight brought Plucky Roman to $22,342.50 for the year. She has 2 wins and 2 seconds in 6 starts. Last season she won 2 races and $5,740.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rice bred Plucky Roman on their Danada (Dan and Ada) Farm.

Hollywood Park

Round Table carried 132 pounds and galloped off with one-mile Argonaut Handicap at Hollywood Park, on June 7. He earned $30,650 which puts him at $1,056,264, $29,496 behind second-place Citation. Nashua leads the money-winners of the world with $1,288,565.

Shoemaker allowed Round Table to drop back to next-to-last place as the field went down the backstretch, but the four-year-old son of *Princequillo-*Knight's Daughter, by Sir Cosmo, moved up when asked and out fought How Now to the wire, winning by a head.

*Seaneen, which defeated Round Table in the Californian two weeks earlier, finished third.

Mr. Travis M. Kerr, who is the head of the family that owns the Kerr Stable, says his colt will go to Chicago in an effort to pick up some of those big Arlington-Washington purses and pass Nashua.

Society Note: Miss Nancy Kerr, co-owner of Round Table, was married quietly between races. She wed Mr. Cecil L. Magana of Bartlesville, Okla., on June 1.

Delaware Park

Boncris Stable's Backbone fought off the longshot, Piano Jim, to win the Kent Stakes on June 7. The son of International-winner Worden took the 1 1/16-mile race by a head after leading from the beginning. Walter Blum rode.

Breaking fast, Backbone raced away from his field to have a three-length lead after half a mile. Then Piano Jim, carrying 111 pounds to Backbone's 120, moved up and it was a dog fight from there on in. For a brief moment, Piano Jim had his head in front, but Backbone would not be denied.

Talent Show, the choice at 7 to 5, finished third, plion, top-weight under 123 was fourth.

Backbone has notched up three stakes wins in a row, the Hartford Handicap and the Suffolk Downs Stakes before the Kent.

He won the Chesapeake at Laurel earlier in the year and has 6 victories and 1 second in 13 1958 starts.

The $23,550 from the Kent gives Backbone $85,415 for the season. Last year, he won 1 race and $10,655.

Boncris Stable (Mr. C. J. Devine) bred the colt. Backbone's dam, *Shooting High, by Hyperion, was imported while carrying him.

L. Murray trains for Boncris.

Balmoral-at-Washington

Mr. J. Graham Brown's five-year-old mare, Bornastar won the one-mile Beverly Handicap at Washington park, June 7. Kenny Church was up.

Pucker Up and Burdetta followed the winner home.

The victory was the second in two starts this year for the daughter of *Alibhai-Farmerette, by *Sickle. With the Beverly money, $35,300 she has earnings of $38,175 for '58.

Last year, Bornastar raced 30 times, won 5 races, was second in 3 and earned $85,265.

She is trained by W. G. Sparks. Shawnee Farm bred her.

The Sheridan Handicap, on June 4, went to Mr. Fred W. Hooper's Alhambra. The six-furlong race for three-year-olds was clocked in 1:10 flat.

Alhambra (Olympia-Robins Charm, by Epithet) won by ten lengths and earned $12,700. He carried 122 pounds, sharing top weight with his stablemate (fifth to finish) Olymar. The entry was favored at 9 to 10.

Bolero U. was second by a neck over Terra Firma, which edged out Ahmed for third by the same margin.

Alhambra was registering his fourth 1958 win. He has been third twice. With his Sheridan booty he has season's earnings of $38,175. He won the Hibiscus, at Hialeah in January.

Last year, Mr. Hooper's home-bred colt won 6 of 11, was second once and third once, and earned $94,264.

C. R. Parke trains him.

R. L. Barnett was up for the Sheridan.

Suffolk Downs

Mr. B. A. Dario's Dandy Blitzen, the 7-to-10 favorite, won the inaugural running of the Pinafore Stakes at Suffolk Downs on June 7.

The six-furlong dash is for fillies and mares three years old and up.

Dandy Blitzen, a home-bred daughter of Bull Dandy, from Spiteful Sue, by Heather Broom, won comfortably by five lengths.

H. Wajda rode the three-year-old filly.

Jimminetty, Cousin Con and Jodi took the other money positions, collecting in volume in order of listing.

Dandy Blitzen had not won in three previous 1958 starts, but had turned in a rousing race in the Suffolk Downs Stakes to miss by a neck behind Backbone. Also, she was third in the Betsy Ross to A Glitter and Two Cent Stamp.

With 1 win, a second and 2 thirds she has season's earnings of $16,470.50. Of this amount, $7,098.50 came from the Pinafore.

W. A. LaRue trains Dandy Blitzen.

Short Takes of Late Stakes

How Now, under W. Harmatz, won the 5 1/2-furlong Hollywood Express Handicap, at Hollywood, on May 31. The race was worth $15,650 to King Ranch, owner of the three-year-old colt.

Hollywood's Cinderella Stakes (June 4) went to Mrs. C. B. Burke's Tassle Dancer. The two-year-old filly earned $15,850 for her five furlongs in :59 1/5.

The Poltex Stable's Born Rich, a longshot at nearly 20 to 1, scored in the Milady Handicap (Hollywood, June 5). Trainer C. A. Roles claimed the mare two years ago for $6,500. The winner's share from the Milady amounted to $12,600. Ray York rode.

NOW BROWN VELVET

The brown gelding, The Spook, which rose to the top of the jumper ranks last year in Ontario for the late A. C. Texter, has been added to the stable of Charlie Armstrong and his name is now Brown Velvet. The A B C Farms, famous in all horse sports over the continent have runners, trotters and hackneys but the jumpers are the special interest of Charles Armstrong, son of Mr. & Mrs. Elgin Armstrong. Brown Velvet has now joined the formidable Black Velvet and Grey Velvet.

Miss Terry Coolin, who rode the big white-faced gelding to his last year's successes, rode him to the jumper championship at the Central Ontario Horse Show in Kitchener.

GODFREY TV SHOW

Arthur Godfrey, whose high school exhibition with Goldie has become an annual feature of the Upperville, (Va.) Colt and Horse Show, scheduled his half hour morning TV show on Friday, June 6th, as a preview of the Show.

The show, from 10 to 10:30 Standard Time, originated at Godfrey's Beacon Hill Farm, Waterford. According to the latest, poll, it was viewed by over 40 million throughout the United States.

On camera with Arthur Godfrey, were Mr. and Mrs. Morton W. (Cappy) Smith with two top hunters, Passport and Witchcraft and two open horses - all entries at the Upperville Show; James L. Wiley, who has judged at many of the high echelon shows in America; George Robert Slater, manager and director of the oldest horse show in the United States, and Reed Thomas, a member of the Board of Directors.

EUROPE BOUND

Mr. & Mrs. Nick Saegmuller and their daughter, Sue of Warrenton, Va., left this week for the British Isles. The former Field Secretary of the Virginia Horsemen's Association (now the Virginia Thoroughbred Association) will inspect some horses for Virginia clients in Ireland.

After that the Saegmullers will make a tour of Norway, Sweden and Denmark, where Mr. Saegmuller expects to try some fishing.

DEVON NOTES

When Morton (Cappy) Smith's Witchcraft captured the Green Conformation Hunter championship at the Devon Horse Show, he won a second leg on the West Thorpe Farm Challenge trophy - for the first time since 1939. Nineteen years ago he won it with Guardsman. The trophy has been in competition since 1935 for 23 years. It is interesting to note that one of the winners is Mrs. Ellsworth H. Augustus, mother of Peggy Augustus, who captured it in 1937 with Sand Artist. Mrs. Augustus is now primarily concerned with race horses, while her daughter is carrying the horse show honors for the family. The trophy is apparently playing "hard-to-get" and winning, for only two other exhibitors besides Cappy now have two legs on the cup. They are Maule Farms, who won in 1954 and 1955 with Auction, a promising young horse that died in the fall of 1955, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. King, who won it in 1947 and 1951.

The Press Box at Devon was "adopted" this year by a most unusual "reporter", an amiable Dalmatian named Mildew... (or was it Will Do?) Much of the time the dog spent curled up under one of the tables, and frequently was accidentally kicked and stepped upon by forgetful press people. But he paid no attention whatsoever to these unintentional indignities. He took a particular liking to Mrs. Ruth Bolger, of the Philadelphia Bulletin, and usually followed her to the telephone and curled up at her feet.

As far as the goings-on in the ring were concerned, Mildew was most entranced by the cutting horse contest, in which appeared small steers or large calves, - (animals at the stage of life "when brook and river meet.")

The climax of Mildew's visit to the show occurred, however, during one of the rare moments he was outside the press box. The cutting horse contest was going on - the cowboy in action was having difficulty in cutting his calf out of the herd, so Mildew dashed out into the ring to show how it ought to be done, and did it. This broke up the act, to the delight of the crowd. He was ushered out quickly and rather roughly by the cowboys, dismaying the tender-hearted so-called "hard-boiled" newsmen and women.

Mildew had his picture taken with Mrs. Bolger making him appear to be typing out a story. There were nearly as many dogs at the show as horses, but Mildew was indubitably the outstanding "character".

A display which invariably had an admiring crowd around it at the Devon Horse Show, was in behalf of the United States Equestrian Team. It consisted of a series of dramatic matted photographs of the team riders in action. The display was arranged by William Bryan, official public relations director for USET. He also gave out folders describing the activities of the team, which is now campaigning in Europe.

Dedication of a plaque to the late William C. Hunneman, Jr., was one of the poignant moments of the Devon Horse Show, when a moment of silence was observed in his memory. His leadership and inspiration revived the Devon Horse Show after World War II, and made it the outstanding show it is today.

The 1958 show was dedicated to the late Mr. Hunneman whose picture appeared on page one of the catalogue, together with a poem read at his funeral at his own request.

CHARIOT RACE AT DEVON

"The pagentry of Ancient Rome", (as announcer Jack Creamer put it), came to life again twice daily at the Devon Horse Show, when two miniature Roman chariots put on a thrilling exhibition for the crowd.

The chariots were drawn by teams of four ponies abreast, from the William Winkelman Pony Farm at Lohrville, Iowa, and driven by Bill Winkelman, Jr., twenty-five, and Tex Haney, twenty-three. The exhibition was one of the best this reporter has ever seen because of its novelty and action. (And she has seen them all!) No holds were barred in the "race", when the teams criss-crossed in front of each other missing collisions by a hairbreadth, and racing at Tim Tam speed. The exhibition also had the advantage of being brief, so that the spectators always wished they could see more of it.

The senior Winkelman is the brother of Dwight W. Winkelman, owner of Lake-lawn Farms, Southern Pines, S. C., winner of three tri-colors at the Devon Show.

The Winkelman pony herd comprises 700 miniature animals and is said to be the largest in the world.

The chariot teams comprised four white ponies on one team, and four black matched ones on the other. The white ponies all had dun colored markings on their heads, while the black ones had white markings on their rumps and white tails. The two drivers wore handsome Roman costumes in vivid colors. At the conclusion of the show Mrs. Charles Harper presented them with a trophy and two blue ribbons. The exhibition is non-commercial, and the youths receive only their expenses for appearing at shows.

Mrs. Harper, tall and statuesque, was frequently seen in the hospitality tent wearing one of the Roman costumes, including gold laurel wreath, remarkably becoming to her. On more than one occasion, she and Mrs. Sallie Sexton and Mrs. Edgar Scott drove the ponies in impromptu races outside the show ring, just for the fun of it.

DISDAINS DISTAFF

Columnist Bob Harwood recounts his lack of success in inviting a most attractive young lady to accompany him to Belmont Park in order to witness the Distaff Handicap on May 13th - evidently his unlucky day. She couched her refusal as follows: "A distaff is an ancient staff or stave used in spinning and has long been a symbol of woman's subservience to man, and, at best, circumscribes her authority 1960. He was an amazing all-rounder. He won over the bank course at Dublin Shows, won over fly-fences at Belfast, was fourth in the Gamblers' Stakes at Harringay "Horse of the Year Show", where he was placed in four of his five competitions. He was also a superb cross-country performer and won the South Dublin hunter trials last year and was third this year in the Open one-day event at the Irish Olympic Horse Trials and returned the fastest time over the cross-country course.

Celtol was shipped to Italy with four other promising young Irish jumpers: - Quizzmaster, Grove Girl, Mount Leinster, and an unnamed horse.

YOUNG LADY AT DEVON

In Margaret L. Smith's story of the Devon Horse Show, published in this issue, it was stated that Miss Laurie Ratliff, who rode Cottage Den to the Working Hunter Championship, is 17 years old. To be more accurate Miss Ratliff is 15 years old.

to the so-called world of women. If you don't mind, sir, I will spend the afternoon watching Brigitte Bardot making men into sheep."

TIDEWATER ASSOCIATION

Irving B. Kline was re-elected president of the Tidewater Horse and Pony Association, Norfolk, Va., at its annual meeting in May. Also re-elected for a second term was Lyman Clarke, treasurer. Completing the slate were: Oscar Bryan, vice president; Grace Harris, secretary; Bob Esleck, Richard B. Spindle III and Lynn Morris, directors.

VHSA CHANGE

Due to some confusion concerning the Virginia Thoroughbred Assn Class for 2-year-olds, the Board of Directors voted to add the following:

"In the event that a sufficient number of entries are not received to have a class count toward the High Score Award, exhibitors shall be advised by shows sponsoring the class. If at this time there are four or more exhibitors and the show accepts post entries, post entries will be permitted."

ROME HORSE SHOW

At the recent Rome International Horse Show the D'Inzeo brothers, Raimondo and Piero, accounted for 8 first out of 14 individual contests. The German Team won the Nations' Cup. Other countries represented were Italy, Chile, France, United Arab Republic, Spain, Switzerland, Poland and Rumania.

1960 OLYMPIC DATES

The dates of the equestrian events of the Olympic Games to be held in Rome in 1960 are: Three-day Event Dressage, September 5th and 6th; Three-day Event Cross-Country, September 7th; Three-day Event Show Jumping, September 8th; Grand Prix Dressage, September 9th and 10th; and Grand Prix Show Jumping, September 11th.

"IN THE COUNTRY"

Some three years ago Karl Koontz, former Thoroughbred editor of The Chronicle, and now secretary of the Florida Thoroughbred Breeders' Association, suggested the name "In The Country" (which is the name of the column you are reading) to the O'Farrell brothers of Ocala Stud Farms for their 3-year-old colt foal by Rough n' Tumble out of Hipetyhop, by Canter. Living up to his name in fine fashion, he won twice this winter in Florida, once at Hialeah and the other at Gulfstream. On May 27th, at Suffolk Downs, he won the featured East Boston Purse, leading all the way, by seven and a half lengths.
